City losing $32,000 a month in charges

Stewart, council draw battle lines over sewer, water rates

By JIM BRADLEY
Roman Staff Writer

Romulus water and sewer rates may be in the process of becoming a "political football" between some members of the city council and Mayor James Stewart's administration.

Stewart charges that a majority of the council is making a political issue of it, while at the same time several council members respond that there is a lack of communication between the two parties.

"We're losing some $32,000 per month in water and sewer charges and have been advised by our legal counsel that we may be in violation of the city charter." Stewart said yesterday, "If we are, the state can take action against us."

In a legal opinion. attornev Peter O'Rourke stated that, "Throughout our review of the water and sewer ordinance, it has become clear that the current rate charges, including the Oct. 5, 1976, increase, are insufficient to meet the costs incurred by the city for its water and sewer operation."

"The rates and charges for any municipal public utility, including the furnishing of water, sewer, light, heat, power or gas shall be fixed as to meet the costs of such utility," according to the city charter.

O'Rourke advised that the rates and charges should be increased to meet the costs of the water and sewer operations as is required by the city charter.

The letter recommended that the counseling firm meet with the city council, or a committee designated by it, to review a proposed amendment to the water and sewer ordinance.

"I've brought this matter before the council four or five times and I feel that the responsibility lies with them now," Stewart said.

On the other hand, several council members feel there is a lack of communication on the part of the mayor and his administration.

"There is a terrible lack of communication in the city." Councilwomen Joan Lee charged. "The mayor says his door is always open, but we are busy people and don't have time to stop by his office."

"I want to sit down with officials of the water and sewer department and go over the ordinance and bring up to date any inadequacies that may be found," Mrs. Lee said. "After doing that, we can determine what the final amount of increase is needed.

"I feel we on the council get little or no information on the matters brought before us," she said. "Another thing, I'd like an answer to why it took the city five months to raise Metropolitan Airport water rates if the need for money was so desperate."

Mrs. Lee, who voted in favor of raising the rates on its first hearing on Aug. 19, changed her mind and voted against the increase on Aug. 31. "After investigating the matter more thoroughly, I thought it needed a lot more study than we had given it," she said.

Another council member, Gerry Canejo, also voted for the raise at the first hearing and against it on Aug. 31.

"I wanted to give the matter a hearing," he explained, "but I don't feel the raise should be implemented all at once. It's not the people's fault that more money is needed. But I feel it should be increased over a six- to 12-month period," he said.

Canejo agreed that the water and sewer rate hike, with its complex variations and possible solutions on how to pay the increased rates, needed more study.

While the matter is being tossed back and forth by the city officials, they are keeping an eye cocked on Lansing to see if the state "blows the whistle" for violation of the city charter.

Romulus experiences heavy voter turnout

A record 700 Romulus voters were issued the new "punch-card" absentee ballots for yesterday's election and that high number could very well mean either victory or defeat for certain area candidates.

"The absentee voter number is by far the most we've ever had," Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar said yesterday afternoon. "And, incidently, because of our mini-computers, they will be the first votes counted.

"If the punch-card system works well, we hope to go city-wide with it as soon as possible at all polling places," he said.

Although several breakdowns of voting machines took place, Folmar said that extra machines were on hand at all polling places, so residents spent little extra time in line.

Of the 14,000 registered voters in Romulus, 4,397 had pulled the lever of their choice by 3 p.m., according to the city clerk.

The big surge of voters was expected to flow into the b[oo]th p.m., between the hours of 5 and 8[p.]m. culminating a presidential campaign and various local, county, state and national contests that set records in the amount of money spent.

Vote is heavy

Romulus has a very envi[a]ble record for high voter turnouts and yesterday's presidential election, was no exception, despite the fact t[h]ere were no city offices up for grabs. Shown above are [R]omulus voters at city hall around noon. Absentee voters in Romulus used "punch-card" ballots for the first time. More [t]han 50 percent of registered voters were expected to hip their ballots yesterday, according to city clerk Leas[e] Folmar.

Romulus fire truck overturns, but nobody is injured

Firefighters escape injury

Three Romulus volunteer fire fighters, driver William Krueger, George Mitchell and James Darnell were miraculously spared from death when their 12-ton fire truck swerved to miss an oncoming car Friday and overturned at the corner of Goddard and Rogell Drive. The unit was responding to a call at the south terminal at Metro Airport. Photo courtesy of Romulus Fire Inspector William Fralick.

Three Romulus volunteer fire fighters are alive today after miraculously escaping death Friday when their fire truck flipped over while racing to put out a fire at Metropolitan Airport.

Driver William Krueger, 45, and George Mitchell, 33, and James Darnell, 27, were occupants in the truck when Krueger reportedly had to swerve to miss an oncoming car which had turned left into their path.

According to Romulus Fire Chief, John Wilhide, when Krueger had to slam on his brakes to avoid hitting the car, the truck hit the crub at the corner of Goddard and Rogell Drive and flipped completely over on its roof.

"It's truly a miracle that none of the three was hurt, especially Mitchell," exclaimed Wilhide afterward.

"From the information I received at the scene, a car turned left right into the path of the fire truck". Wilhide said. "The driver had to jam on the brakes but he had 12 tons of vehicle to control."

"He almost made the turn but hit the curb and the truck flipped. As the truck was turning over, Mitchell, who was sitting in the jumpseat right behind the driver, jumped out the passenger door but tripped on the curb and fell. The truck overturned right on top of Mitchell but the part that fell on him was the opening of the engine compartment on the passenger's side, the only place he could have survived," Wilhide said.

The fire in Metropolitan Airports' south terminal's ventilating system broke out at 6:05 p.m. Friday, at the peak of rush hour, thus congesting traffic even more than usual. However, the fire was mostly all smoke and while more than 1,000 passengers had to be evacuated, no serious injuries were reported.

Fire Chief Wilhide was inside battling the smoke when he received information over his walkie-talkie that the Romulus fire truck had overturned.

"My first impression when I came rushing up to the entrance and saw the truck was that someone had been seriously hurt, "Wilhide said.

Capt. Gary Centek, of Station No. 1 at Bibbins and Shook, was following the truck driven by Kreuger and thought the same thing.

"I felt sure that somebody had been seriously hurt or even killed," Centek told Wilhide later.

"I have two main thoughts in mind over this unfortunate incident," Wilhide pointed out Monday. "First, I'm thankful the good Lord watched over these fine men. Secondly, I want everybody to know that these men have the highest and finest training possible and do a top-notch job."

The fire chief wanted to dispel any false notions citizens might get from hearing of the accident.

"These are excellent drivers. They must pass periodic tests and be well-trained," he said. "But when you have hundreds of people involved and it's an emergency situation, you do the best you can."

Jerry Kubiak, director of public safery, echoed Wilhide's sentiments. "We're certainly thankful no one was seriously injured in the terminal or when our fire truck overturned," he said. "However, I feel it's vital for local residents to know that our fire department is rated as one of the fastest responding volunteer units in the state.

"That high ranking is reflected in our insurance rates in the xity", Kubiak said. "We have dedicated people and the espirit de corps is great!"

Fire Inspector Bill Fralick, who also serves as a volunteer fireman on his free time, said an insurance agent would fly in from Chicago this week to inspect the amount of damage to the American LaFrance-built fire truck.

Fralick and five other volunteer members of Station No. 4 at Eureka Road and Brandt raced to their local unit to be of service just in case.

"Without even being called, these men were ready if there were any other fires in the city while the Airport fire was being fought," Fralick said.

"This is the kind of dedicated citizens Romulus has — and we're mighty thankful."

Michigan ski resorts prepare for winter

'This year more resorts than ever are making, It easy for anyone to learn to ski...'

Expanded facilities at half of Michigan's ski areas, introduction of hourly rates and more emphasis on families and groups are expected to draw the largest crowds in the history of the slopes this winter, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Michigan's 1.2 million alpiners will be able to choose from 58 ski areas, one more than last year. Although one ski area operating last season—TimberLee near Traverse City—will not open this winter, two others, previously closed, will reopen with new names and owners.

Operators statewide are hoping that investments in new hills, equipment and buildings will lead to a 15 to 20 percent business expansion, the same as last year.

An improved economy, steadily increasing interest in the outdoors and more people looking for quick mid-winter mini-vacations were cited most often by lodge managers for skiing's increasing popularity.

"This year more resort's than ever are making it easy for anyone to learn to ski," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. For example, 81 percent of all ski areas listed in the Auto Club's 1977 guide offer rental equipment, with ski instructions available at 86 percent.

Skiers with children will find one-third of all facilities offering babysitting, with many sponsoring nursery ski schools for youngsters able to take to the slopes.

In addition, 42 areas offer cross-county skiing, up 27 percent from last season. One Upper Peninsula resort, Brule Mt. near Iron River, offers a Michigan first-lighted trails for night cross-country skiing.

Another innovative feature this year is skiing by the hour at Crystal Mt. near Thompsonville in northwest Lower Michigan.

"You can ski any portion of the day you want and pay only that portion, Ratke said. "It averages about $1 an hour. There are reduced rates for night and mid-week skiing as well.

"If you plan to ski before 1 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays, you can purchase minimum blocks of nine and eight hours, respectively."

Skiers returning to 25 Michigan resorts will find daytime weekend lift fees unchanged from a year ago. Lift prices rose 25 cents to $2 at 27 others. At three areas, including Hanson Hills near Grayling, price information was unavailable. One area lowered daily fees and still another now charges by the hours.

Daily weekend lift fee of $10—the highest in the state—are in effect at Boyne Mt., Boyne Falls, Boyne Highlands, Harbor Springs, Sugar Loaf, Cedar, Schuss Mt., Mancelona, and Indianhead Mt., Wakefield. Fees at both Boyne resorts are unchanged while Scuss Mt. and Indianhead Mt. increased $1.

Three ski areas dropped lift fees for his winter. Snowsnake near at Harrison night fees went from $4 to $3.50, while Irish Hills near Onsted dropped night fees from $6 to $5. Traverse City Holiday near Traverse City lowered daily fees from $6 to $5.50.

Here's a brief look at what skiers can expect in state tourist regions this winter:

SOUTHEAST MICHIGAN — Detroit-area residents can ski days and any night at seven of eight areas operating this season. Lift fees vary from $3.50 to $8. Mt. Holly's year-old 1,800-foot run has been widened by 60 feet, and Mt. Brighton has expanded its lodge and increased its rental ski stock to 1,700 pairs. Mt. Grampian, Oxford, increased snowmaking capacity 50 percent and added a powder snowmaker. Alpine Valley near Milford, improved its cafeteria, and Black Forest, Port Huron, bought 150 pairs of new rental skis.

EAST MICHIGAN — The region's 10 ski areas offer 112 runs, catering to economy-minded families. Only Sylvan Knob, Gaylord, and Skyline, Grayling, offer package rates at nearby motels or chalets. Lift tickets are from $5 to $7.50. Nine areas offer ski schools. Mott Mt., near Farwell, sports a new rental shop and is one of the few Michigan areas using unrelated GM (Graduated Length Method) techniques. Mio Mt. increased its snowmaking capacity, while Snowsnake, near Harrison, added a ski shop and remodeled its beginner hill.

WEST MICHIGAN — Twenty of this region's ski areas offer package deals, featuring lift tickets and lodging, while 11 offer rooms, chalets or condominiums near the slopes, making it the state's most popular ski-vacation area. Daily weekend lift fees range from $2.50 to $10. Boyne Mt. at Boyne Falls plans four new outdoor tennis courts. Winterskol near Lakeview doubled its lodge capacity and boasts the state's best lighting for night skiing on a new 1,800-foot run. Swiss Valley at Jones has a new 500-foot beginner slope. Crystal Mt. near Thompsonville has six miles of new cross-country trails, and Royal Valley near Buchanan has a new cocktail lounge and 1,400-floor intermediate run and has added a rope tow.

UPPER PENINSULA — With runs more than a mile long and the highest vertical drops in the State, the U.P.'s 14 ski areas are the closest some midwesterners get to mountain skiing. Six areas offer package rates and nine have chalets, condos or rooms near the slopes. Tickets cost $1 to $10 daily. At Brule Mt., two miles of cross country trails are lighted for night use, lift capacity has been increased 40 percent and 16 camping sites with electricity have been added. Big Powderhorn near Bessemer has added a 2,500-foot novice-intermediate run plus a double chairlift. A $300,000 chalet has been added at the state-owned Porcupine Mt. ski area near Ontanagon. Indianhead Mt. near Wakefield installed a new double chairlift, and Vulcan USA near Vulcan redesigned its beginner hill and added snowmaking to all runs.

Good pruning can save trees

The best protection against snow and ice damage to fruit trees is good pruning. Selective pruning for wide angles where branches meet the trunk makes for a sturdy tree.

Those cold, sunny winter days can be rough on your young fruit trees. To get them through winter in good shape. Jim Flore, Michigan State University Extension fruit tree specialist, suggests giving them a paint job.

"The sunlit southwest side of a tree often is several degrees warmer than the shaded side," he said. "The warm side expands with the heat while the shaded side contracts with the cold. The result is cracks in the bark. You can prevent this by painting the tree trunk from the ground to the first branches with white latex exterior house paint."

10 Belleville High seniors vie for Junior Miss title

Ten Belleville High School seniors have qualified for the Junior Miss Pageant finals to be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 20 in the high school auditorium.

Preliminary plans for the local Junior Miss competition, to honor and reward the top girls of the class of '77, were announced by Fred Domen, chairman of the Junior Miss committee.

Involved in this year's pageant will be Lisa Pellecchia, Cynthia Long, Teresa Mattson, Pat May, Judy Bly, Kellie Gale, Connie Cook, Agnes Papuzynski, Cheri Kormos and Pam Bankert.

The local Junior Miss activity is part of a nationwide scholarship program to encourage excellence in all young people by recognizing the achievements of high school senior girls.

"In the past two decades, the Junior Miss program has earned the respect and support of religious, education and civic leaders throughout the nation," Domen said.

"It is a scholarship program based on high standards and ideals, and should not be confused with bathing-beauty contests."

Judging at all levels is on the basis of scholastics, creative and performing talents, physical well-being, perception and abilities in human relations.

The 10 girls were scheduled to have a pizza party last Sunday. They will be interviewed personally by the judges in a natural setting on Nov. 14 prior to the finals on Nov. 20.

The winner of Belleville Junior Miss program will participate in state competition for the chance to take part in America's Junior Miss finals at Mobile, Ala., next May.

More than $5 million in college scholarships, bonds and other awards will be offered to Junior Miss contestants at local, state and national competitions this year. Some $55,000 in scholarships, topped by a 4-year full-expense scholarship to the college of her choice to America's Junior Miss of 1977, will be awarded at the 20th annual national finals at Mobile, Ala.

Andrea Price, last year's Belleville Junior Miss winner, will crown the new Junior Miss at the Nov. 20 finals.

Seniors' hot lunches stopped cold

Plans for a hot lunch program for senior residents living in Van Buren Township and the City of Belleville have been stopped cold.

Sponsors have no place to serve the meals.

"Several prospective sites have been examined, but unfortunately few possibilities remain," said Mary Nichols, senior citizens' co-ordinator, in describing her efforts to secure a place to serve the meals.

"The most crucial thing is that we stand to lose a substantial amount of federal grant money available for senior citizens if we don't locate a building by Friday, Dec. 3," Miss Nichols said.

"We can either rent a building, or if we find a suitable structure, we may be able to buy it," she said, "but the government requires a certain amount of local community support before we can get the funds to purchase a building."

But, so far joint efforts of Miss Nichols and Senior Citizen Resource Counselor Salina Day, senior citizens' resource counselor in Belleville, have not been successful.

"It is required that the building we use for senior citizens' hot lunches be at basement or first floor level and must be available at least one hour per day Monday through Friday," said Miss Nichols.

"It seems that millions of dollars are being spent for everything else while our senior citizens go without — and that's a shame. Without community support, this hot lunch plan will remain on the drawing board and the seniors will be the ones to suffer."

Providing they find a place to serve the hot meals, the start of the "food and friendship" project will provide nutritionally sound catered lunches to area residents at least 60 years of age.

Meals for home-bound seniors also are available, but these must be delivered by volunteer drivers.

Each menu will include a meat dish, starch vegetable, green vegetable, roll or bread, butter, dessert and milk. A 50-cent donation is requested, but seniors unable to pay still will be served, she said.

"Besides promoting better health through improved nutrition, this type of program would provide Belleville and Van Buren retirees an excellent opportunity to renew frienships and to make new ones, Miss Nichols said.

According to Miss Nichols, the lunches are administered by the Out-Wayne County Nutrition Program, which receives operational funds from federal monies approiated under the Older Americans Act passed in 1965.

Retirees in surrounding communities, including Romulus, Sumpter, Ypsilanti, Canton, Northville, New Boston and others, have been enjoying the benefits from the program for some time.

"Senior citizens in Belleville and Van Buren Township must not be overlooked," said Miss Nichols, in urging local citizens to help the hot lunch project find a place to serve the meals for some 100 to 150 older people.

"If anyone's church, lodge, fraternal group, organization or business could possibly assist us in securing a site that meets the requirements, we urge them to call us at once."

Miss Nichols added: "The ideal place would be a lease with option to buy."

She said that advance registration is not required, but that they'd like to get in touch with as many as possible who would participate in the hot lunch program.

Miss Nichols can be contacted at Van Buren Township Hall at 699-2001. Miss Day has an office in Belleville City Hall and can be reached at 699-6666.

Panax forms Press-Guide with newspapers' merger

Sale of The Dearborn Guide to Panax Corp. and its merger with The Dearborn Press into a new weekly newspaper to be named the Dearborn Press and Guide has been announced by John McGoff, president of Panax, and Mrs. Annette Ross, publisher of the Guide.

The merger came less than 18 months after the death of William A. Ross, one of four founders of the Guide in 1948, and its editor, publisher and sole owner since 1953.

"We are delighted that Panax now is able to couple its resources and future plans with the traditions and high journalistic principles so long typified by Bill Ross," McGoff said in announcing the merger.

"We certainly intend to honor both in our future operations."

Mrs. Ross described herself as "excited and pleased" by the move.

"Although this was not an easy decision to make," she said, "I'm convinced that the merger of these two great newspapers will be best for Dearborn."

Martin N. Heim, vice-president for Panax Lower Michigan newspaper operations and a former general manager of the Press, saw the new affiliation as "another indication of the growth and strength of Dearborn."

"This has been a dynamic, growing market for many years," Heim said. The Press, The Guide and Panax all have made their contributions to that growth in the past and now, by pooling our physical and human resources, we will be in a stronger position than ever to provide the assistance and community leadership that will be needed."

Heim said that Shirley (Hank) Henry, vice-president and general manager of The Guide under Mrs. Ross, would continue as general manager of the merged operation.

Merger ot the two newspapers pools 86 years of newspaper publishing in the city.

The Guide was established in 1948 by Ross, Roy Lancaster, George McClellan and the late Cy Aaron. McClellan sold out to the other three in 1952. In 1953 Ross bought out Lancaster and Aaron.

The Press was founded in 1918 by William Kronberg. Panax Newspapers purchased the Press in January, 1974 shortly after Publisher Robert Foley Smith's death. In the interim the Press absorbed eight other weekly Dearborn publications.

In addition to the Press and Guide, Panax publishes 22 other weekly newspapers and six dailies in Michigan. They are the Mellus Newspapers, based in Lincoln Park; Associated Newspapers, based in Wayne; the Wyandotte Guardian and News-Herald, The Community News, The Macomb Daily, The Mt. Pleasant Daily Times-News, The Daily Record Leader at Alma, The Marquette Mining Journal, The Iron Mountain News and The Escanaba Daily Press.

Casting their votes

Residents turned out in near-record numbers yesterday to support the candidates of their choice as the United States got down to the business of electing a president, senator, judges and local leaders. In Belleville City Hall (above) crowds of voters waited patiently for their turn to vote, while Faye Moody (at right) gave ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko a confident smile that her candidates would win after casting her vote.

Kiwanians to 'flip' flapjacks Saturday

The Kiwanis Club of Romulus will hold its 20th annual Pancake Festival from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. this Saturday at the Romulus Progressive Hall, 11580 Ozga Road at Five Points.

Tickets, which cost $1.75 for adults and $1.25 for children 12 years and under, entitle the purchaser to all the pancakes they can eat, along with limited amounts of sausage, coffee, milk and juice.

Children under age of five will be admitted free to the event that drew some 1,500 persons last year.

Ticket Chairman Andrew Lopota hopes for a good turnout because all proceeds go to support a Kiwanis dental program for indigent children.

"We believe that everyone will welcome the opportunity to help us raise funds for our charities and at the same time enjoy the fellowship, cconviviality and good food our festival affords," Lopata said.

In addition to their dental program, the Kiwanians' other projects include: Michigan Kidney Foundations, Boy Scouts, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 4-H Club, Wolverine Bovs State. Romulus Youth Organization, Huron Valley Girl Scout Camp, Honors Banquet and Romulus High School Annual Football Banquet.

President Hazen Hay (941-0055) or Immediate Past President John Lewkowicz (942-0499) may be called for additional information.

Smith blames court-imposed costs for end of free township patrols

Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith of Belleville has blamed court-imposed jail costs for creating a county budget crunch which will lead to a tentative decision to end free Sheriff's patrols in townships as of June 30, 1977.

Blasting the courts for "making a shambles of the county budget," Smith also demanded greater productivity from the 20 judges of Detroit Recorder's Court.

Smith, whose 27th District encompasses a large portion of Western Wayne County,including four townships, spoke out angrily after the county Board of Commissioners decided tentatively to end the township patrols June 30, 1977.

The action on the patrols was included in the tentative county budget approved by a majority of commissioners, meeting as the Ways and Means Committee, Oct. 26.

Smith said he will fight to reverse the decision when the Board of Commissioners meets tomorrow to take final action on the budget. The county fiscal year begins Dec. 1.

Smith aimed his criticism at the Recorder's Court bench and at a 720-prisoner limit imposed at the present county jail by a panel of three Wayne County Circuit Court judges. Smith recalled that in 1970 the jail housed as many as 1,800 prisoners.

Smith was among the sponsors of a resolution which warns of additional heavy costs for housing jail prisoners and "implores" Recorder's and Circuit courts to increase their rates of disposing of criminal cases.

The resolution calls on the judges "to immediately increase their judicial productivity in order to move inmates through the criminal justice system at a rate which will significantly reduce the jail population."

In the resolution, the Board of Commissioners requests the Michigan Supreme Court to appoint monitors for the two lower courts "to monitor judicial productivity and make regular public reports."

The resolution also asks that the State Legislature and the governor review the productivity of Recorder's Court, and that the presiding Circuit Court judge "relieve us from the orders of the three-judge panel".

Smith said the current number of county jail prisoners is about 1,250—a population that "I believe could be housed in the downtown jail without violation of the prisoners' rights".

"I maintain that these prisoners should not have hotel-style living conditions while in jail," he added. "I don't believe in allowing inhumane conditions, but I don't think accused felons should get the red carpet treatment either."

Smith said the conditions imposed by the 3-judge panel have pushed the daily cost per prisoner to $38 at the downtown jail and $40 at the Detroit House of Correction.The daily cost was $22 before the panel imposed its present requirements.

Smith said the cost of housing prisoners at the Detroit House of Correction coupled with a renovation and operation of a vacant county hospital building as a semi-permanent facility for 250 prisoners, probably will reach $10 million.

"In addition, a state law requires the county to spend nearly $10 million on the operation of Recorder's Court," he added. "We have a right to expect the Recorder's judges to get off their duffs and reduce the jail population."

Noting that the county faces on $8.2 million budget deficit as of Nov. 30, Smith declared: "Our budget crisis is a direct result of the skyrocketing costs emanating from the courts. What really burns me up is the fact that the commissioners from Detrvt voted to cut off the township patrols on June 30 with the claim that Western Wayne County is receiving services that the City of Detroit doesn't get from the Sheriff."

Smith said he will fight to reverse the decision...

"Some time back, there was talk of the City of Detroit forming its own county," he concluded. "I am all for that. It would be a plus for the majority of residents who now live in other communities."

In its Ways and Means action, the Board of Commissioners accepted a recommendation from the Board of County Auditors that localities wishing to receive Sheriff's patrol services be required to pay for the services.

Smith represents the cities of Belleville, Plymouth and Wayne, plus Canton, Plymouth, Sumpter and Van Buren townships, as well as portions of Westland and Northville Township.

Voters' rights

Students at Mt. Pleasant School in Romulus know they are not old enough to have a say in this year's presidential election, but they did get to cast ballots for their "favorite son" in a mock election at the school Oct. 25. The mock election was an exercise in voters' rights for the students, including Steve Faulkner (from left), Brenda Merriman and Cindy Yandura, all sixth graders; Rebecca Branch, a fifth grader; teacher Jessie Simmons; Donald Lobeske and Sue Golden. Mrs. Simmons teaches the fifth and sixth grades at the school. No results were available in the results of the mock election. —ANP photo.

Discount cards wait

Ron Suchy, manager of Nickerson's "Tin Lizzie" Restaurant, located on Belleville Road just north of I-94 Expressway, has a problem.

Or rather, maybe the senior citizens 60 years old and more have a problem.

"Our situation basically is this, that many who qualify for our 10 percent discount as members of our Golden Ager Club have not picked up their cards," Suchy said.

Application to the membership is free and those applying can pick up their cards on the next visit, according to Suchy.

"But more than 300 who have applied have not picked up their membership cards," he added. "We want them to be able to take advantage of the discount, which is available at all times seven days a week."

Suchy stressed that wives and husbands from each family get individual cards.

"Our quota almost is reached and, if any others want to join the club, they should do it as soon as possible," he said. Suchy can be contacted at 697-6888.

Quilting, assertive training workshops planned for center

Two activities will be on tap for the Ypsilanti Center of Washtenaw Community College Friday and Saturday.

Starting off the lineup the direction of Zane O'Lukahns, arts and crafts instructor for the college.

The workshop will cover the three different types of quilts—patchwork, appliqued and all-over quilted, and will include demonstrations on quilt construction techniques, template making and general assembly.

Creativity and innovation will be emphasized in the workshop, with participants learning how to make patterns and design their own quilts using geometric forms. They also will receive suggestions for modifying quilt designs with embroidery and applique.

The fee for the program is $2.25, with senior citizens to be admitted free of charge. Batting and thread will be provided, but participants are asked to bring their own fabric.

Advanced registration is required and can be made by calling 482-2230.

Also scheduled for the Ypsilanti Center is a 1-day assertiveness training workshop, to be directed by Sara Ann Lincoln, women's studies instructor for the University of Michigan Extension Service.

Her assertiveness training workshop is designed to help men and women learn to express ideas in direct, honest, straightforward and approriate ways. Through assertive self-expression, workshop participants will learn to avoid infringing on the rights of others and to prevent their own rights from being violated. The difference between assertion and agression will be examined, and participants will learn why assertion is beneficial to both partners in a relationship and why it usually must be cultivated.

Dr. Lincoln will explain how behavior patterns can be manipulative and-or self-defeating, and participants will learn more about their own self-images, about strategies for self-acceptance and about techniques for coping more effectively with interpersonal relationships.

Ideas from Manuel J. Smith's "When I Say No, I Feel Guilty" will serve as a basis for some of Dr. Lincoln's assertiveness training procedures. At the workshop, Dr. Lincoln will recommend other books for those interested in pursing the subject.

The assertiveness class will meet from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Enrollment for the workshop is limited and a fee of $5 per person must be paid in advance to guarantee registration. Senior citizens will be admitted free of charge.

The assertiveness training and qualiting workshops will both meet at the Ypsilanti Center, located at 214 North Huron Street, Ypsilanti.

For further information call the center at 482-2230.

GI Bill benefits to end on Dec. 31

The nation's third GI Bill, which has provided educational assistance for 6.6 million veterans and active-duty members with military service since Feb. 1, 1955, will not be available for persons entering the armed forces after Dec. 31, 1976.

The Veterans Education and Employment Assistance Act of 1976 (PL-94-502), signed into law by President Gerald Ford Oct. 15, set the termination date for GI Bill eligibility. It also designated Dec. 31, 1989 as the closing date for all training for those already eligible under this program.

Offsetting the end of GI Bill eligibility, the new law created a voluntary contributory educational assistance program for persons initially entering military service after Dec. 31, 1976. Jointly operated by the Veterans Administration and the Department of Defense, the program will offer 36 months educational assistance entitlement with a 10 year delimiting date.

Participants in the new program may contribute $50 to $75 monthly from their salaries, up to a maximum $2,700. The contributions will be matched by the VA at the rate of $2 for every $1 made by the service member.

The new law also provides for an 8 percent increase in monthly allowances for all current training offered by the GI Bill, except flight training, retroactive to Oct. 1. The basic entitlement for trainees was extended from 36 to 45 months.

Prepayment of the monthly allowance was eliminated, effective June 1, 1977. Also, after June 1, advance payment at the start of training will be permitted only at the request of the trainee and provided the school agrees to comply with the requirements of the law.

Other features of the new law include:
— Increased maximum amount for education loans from $600 to $1,500.

— Terminated enrollments and re-enrollments by current active duty members in predischarge education program (PREP) after Oct. 31 1976. PREP will be available during last six months of first enlistment for service members who participate in new voluntary contributory education program.

— Removed delimiting date for seriously disabled and blinded veterans enrolled in vocational rehabilitation training.

— Prohibits an attorney-in-fact from negotiating benefit check as such action is considered as assignment.

The current GI Bill was effective June 1, 1966, providing educational assistance for eligible veterans who served on active duty after Jan. 31. 1955. When all training under the bill has been terminated, its 23½ year life span will have almost doubled that of each of its predecessors.

The World War II GI Bill ended July 25, 1956, after 12 years. Lifetime of the Korean Conflict GI Bill 12½ years, ending Jan. 31, 1965.

Special interests, politicians go hand in hand

By HARRY HALL
Past President
Michigan Chamber of Commerce

...When a politician accuses an opponent of being a tool of some special interest group, you can be sure it is an attempt to divert attention from the accuser's own special interest affiliations...

Political campaigns are full of deceit, duplicity and counterfiet claims. Little wonder so many eligible voters stay home on election day. By the time the contest reaches it's orgiastic finish, about half the people are so confused and disgusted they would like to forget the whole messy affair.

During the past few years politicians in office have spent an inordinate amount of time pretending to reform campaign financing. They have ignored their own repulsive practises to get elected.

Take one of the less than edifying ruses as an example. It has become almost routine for one candidate to brand another candidate with a "Special Interest" label. Designation of an opposing candidate as a pawn of unidentified special interest groups is a favorite stratagem to cast doubt about the sincerity and motives of the opposition. Such accusation is intended as an opprobrium, a stigma, a derogation.

The term, "Special Interest" acquired an unfavorable connotation back in the early new deal days of the 1930's when Franklin D. Roosevelt called organized business groups "Special Interests" because they opposed his anti-business policies. Typically, the public accepted the slur without analysis. It has been a political epithet since then.

It is ironic that Roosevelt popularized the expression. He was elected and controlled throughout his reign by the most unlikely coalition of diverse special interest groups. They gained awesome powers to dominate elections and political decisions for the past four decades.

Actually there is nothing inherently evil with special interest groups. A special interest and the public interest are not necessarily incompatible. All organizations of all types are special interest groups. That is why they were organized in the first place. Organizations come into existence because some people recognize a common special interest. They form an organized group to promote and protect that interest. They expect to share in the benefits of their joint efforts.

Ethnic groups, religious groups, social groups, labor groups, environmental groups, consumers' groups, veterans' groups, womens' groups, business groups, professional groups and hundreds of others are special interest groups. The bowling league, the Epworth League and The Society For the Preservation of Historical Sites are special interest groups. So is Common Cause and the Nader snoopers.

The emergence of these self annointed public interest groups as political brokers is a matter of public relations terminology. These groups are as special interest in design and operation as the other traditional organizations. A small elite band representing a narrow special interest control the policies and programs of these so-called public interest groups with dictatorial ruthlessness.

All these special groups are legal entities. Each serves a specific purpose for its special interest membership. Each claims that its activities serve the public interest. Several hundred thousand special interest groups are directly involved in some phase of our democratic system of government. Each of these politically oriented groups gives political representation to a given group of citizens. All politicians in office and all candidates seeking office have some special ties. They are all subject to pressures from segments of their constituencies through a wide variety of competing and conflicting special interests.

All elections and all major political decisions are determined by the pressures of special interests. The motivating force behind all government at all levels is the competitive struggle among special interests.

These are political facts of life. According to historians and political philosophers, it has been that way since antiquity. Probably it will be that way for eternity or at least until civilized society destroys itself through excesses. Then the process will start all over again.

When a politician accuses an opponent of being a tool of some special interest group, you can be sure it is an attempt to divert attention from the accuser's own special interest affiliations. Politicians are not opposed to special interests. They are just opposed to groups that oppose their election.

On the brighter side

'Thank you' makes it all worthwhile

By JIM BRADLEY
Enterprise-Roman Staff Writer

One of the rewards of being a newspaper man is the appreciation expressed by your readers.

Heavens knows, there are enough times local newspapers are criticized for not getting a certain story in the paper, or for not putting junior's little league scrimmage game on page one of the sports section.

That's why it was such a pleasant experience the other day when a lovely teenage girl strolled into the office and asked the receptionist, "Could I see Mr. Bradley, please?"

She had a small envelope in her hand as she approached my desk and her familiar smile made my heart skip a beat.

What does this lovely young girl want to see me for, I asked myself, although I knew she was showing "good taste" when she singled me out.

Just as she arrived at my desk, I realized she was Kathy Bergmooser, one of the homecoming queen candidates at Romulus High School, who eventually served as one of Queen Tandra Wilson's court.

"This is for you," said Kathy, smiling vivaciously and handing me the small white envelope. I watched her disappear out the front door before glancing down at the envelope in my hand.

I opened it and inside was a card that said "Thank You" in fancy script lettering on the front. Inside the card was a pack of Dentyne gum and a message handwritten in ink.

It read: "Dear Jim: We at Romulus High (the student council and the faculty) would like to thank you and your fellow workers (especially Lothar - the photographer) for your excellent coverage of our homecoming. Your paper has increased faculty and student body interest. Thank you, Mr. Hanna."

Now here was a pleasant surprise So often we get phone calls from irate readers who think we "slant" a story or do not realize the importance of their "earth-shaking" news.

Now, we realize that everything is important that happens to us personally. That's why I take my job so seriously—striving to be completely fair to all sides and stressing the "Personal" touch in every story I can.

To me, people and personalities make the news, especially in a local hometown weekly.

No writer likes to be criticized and accused of doing a poor job. Even less do we like to be accused of "Favoring" the other side. I'm sure there are writers who may slant stories in the newspaper field.

But I can honestly say that I don't know of even one at Associated Newspapers who does, or even thinks of doing so.

Yet, many times we reporters catch "flak" when we honestly try to do our job of reporting the news objectively. But reporters have broad shoulders and realize that while criticism is well-intentioned, many times it is seen only from the eyes of the beholder without the entire picture in view.

I smiled as I looked at the "Thank You" card in one hand and the package of Dentyne in the other. Fellow workers razzed me about the pretty girl coming in to see me and giving me the envelope and gum.

When I first saw the Dentyne, I figured they were saying I'd "gummed" up another story. But when I read the glowing praise for a job well done, it really made my day.

Yes, there are plenty of "knocks" in this newspaper business and other situations that are not as pleasant as they could be.

However, just the thought of a pretty girl hand-delivering a letter of thanks really is a pleasant memory. It really makes this business of dealing with people a real pleasure.

And I've found people very pleasant in Belleville, Wayne, Westland Canton and Van Buren Township, also. (After all, when they say they like your column, you have to admire their good taste).

And who knows, Maybe the next time a pretty girl hand delivers a thank you note she'll even give me a kiss on the cheek.

As we see it

National energy policy is needed

THREE YEARS ago, the Arab states announced an oil embargo and production cutback that caused a five-fold increase in the price of petroleum, leading to the loss of 500,000 jobs and 10 billion dollars in national production in our country.

Since that time, the United States has done little or nothing to formulate a comprehensive national energy policy. Instead we have 50 energy policies that often are in conflict with each other.

The national energy situation has gone from bad to worse. An oil embargo would hurt Michigan and the United States more today that it did in 1973. Consider the following:

- The United States imports of oil have grown from 33 percent of total consumption in 1973 to approximately 45 percent.
- The Arab countries involved in the embargo supplied 11 percent of our oil demands in 1973 and now supply about 18 percent.
- Domestic oil production has fallen to 8.04 million barrels/day, the country's lowest level in 10 years. Just six years ago, the nation reached a peak production of 9.6 million barrels/day.
- Saudi Arabia has replaced Venezuela and Canada as the leading foreign supplier of oil to the American market.

IN SPITE of decreasing domestic energy supplies, Michigan and the rest of the nation continue to consume more energy than ever before—much of it wastefully.

The International Energy Agency, a 17-nation group of energy consuming industrial states, has consistently cited the conservation effort of the United States as the worst among members of the association.

Since Michigan has few energy resources of its own, the state has no choice but to launch a major effort to eliminate waste in energy consumption in all sectors of the Michigan economy. In this way, the state could also serve as an example to the rest of the nation. Now would be a good time to start, especially since Gov. Milliken has proclaimed November Energy Month.

The federal government must also develop a comprehensive energy policy. The policy must address itself to the immediate problems caused by our nation's dwindling energy supplies and to long-term solutions.

By default, rather than by decision, our country is currently increasing its dependence on foreign sources—a dependence that leaves our economy's stability vulnerable to sudden curtailments, as in 1973.

Children's education upsets Romulus parent

As a parent, I am very upset about the time allotted for my children's education.

I understand the reason school is dismissed at 2:30 p.m. is because we no longer have art, music, and physical education teachers in the elementary grades. I also understand the reason we no longer have these teachers is because of lack of funds due to the failure of the millage election.

Surely there are many problems to overcome in properly financing today's public schools. All of us have a responsibility in solving these problems.

However, the Romulus School District does not appear to be approaching their share of these responsibilites in good faith if faith if they are allowing the children to be dismissed at 2:30, while the teachers remain in the building until 3:45, with no classes.

This I do not understand. Will someone explain to me how the district can justify sending children home an hour early when the teachers have to stay there anyway?

Sue Sutton,
Romulus

Consumer Comment

BUYING CLUBS

Actual savings may be minimal

...Consumers are often required to pay a service charge for each order as well as shipping costs...and they may be charged for delivery and installation expenses...

Buying clubs and services tempt inflation-battered consumers because of the large savings they appear to offer. Since buying clubs eliminate the middle person, they claim to offer substantial price reductions on a wide variety of products. However, the actual savings may be minimal.

In order to become a member of a buying club, a person must pay a membership fee ranging from $6 per year to $400 for a 10-year membership. Most contracts do not include a provision for reimbursement if the club should leave the area or go out of business before the expiration of a member's contract.

A buying club acts as an intermediary between the shopper and the manufacturer. A member usually orders an item from the club's catalog which the club forwards to the participating manufacturer. The manufacturer then ships the merchandise to the club's office where it may be delivered to or picked up by the consumer. In other cases, the consumer tells the club what he or she wants and the club negotiates with cooperating manufacturers for the best price. Because overhead costs are low, the customer initially pays only the factory price of the item.

However, there are generally additional charges. Consumers are often required to pay a service charge for each order as well as shipping costs. In addition, they may be charged for delivery and installation expenses. Club contracts also warn that final costs for an item may differ from the original quoted price, if the manufacturer has raised the wholesale price.

Although all purchases include manufacturers' warranties and service policies, many clubs do not issue their own warranties on the merchandise. In fact, some clubs have clauses in their contracts stating they are not responsible for any goods after they are accepted by members. Therefore, consumers should carefully examine the merchandise before accepting their orders.

Before you decide to join a buying club or service, the Michigan Consumers Council urges you to follow these guidelines:

1. Compare prices listed in the club's catalog with those of local retail stores. Remember to add appropriate shipping, service, delivery and installation charges.
2. Consider the membership of both short and long-term contracts. By initially becoming a short-term member, you may be able to assess how much you would use the service. In addition, you would protect yourself if the club goes out of business.
3. Be wary of clubs which promise outlandish discounts or incredibly valuable free gifts.
4. Study the club's guarantee, return and delivery policies.
5. Check the club's reputation with a government or private consumer protection agency. Be sure to ask how long it has been in business.
6. Avoid clubs which prohibit prospective members from taking home their contracts for further study or consultation with their attorney.

'Idiotic' tax policies ruined New York

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

HANOVER, N.H. — Some years back, my brethren of the press regularly ranked the 50 states in terms of "tax effort." State regimes willing to impose heavy tax burdens for social programs were regularly honored with the encomium: "progressive." Those that lagged in raising revenues for education and welfare were routinely disparaged as reactionary and backward.

Invariably, the Empire State of Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller led the list as "most progressive." Reporters covering governors' conferences conceded that the Rock was the class of the league. His aides' briefcases bulged with task force studies on complex new programs, which the Rock generously shared with envious and admiring colleagues.

In a similar ranking of major cities for "tax effort," John V. Lindsay's New York was likewise, Number One.

With the Big Apple almost belly up in the Bicentennial, we know now how idiotic were the criteria by which we judged. The tax-and-spending policies, for which Lindsay and Rockefeller were hailed, were not "progressive" at all. They were ruinous. They drove away citizens and jobs by the hundreds of thousands, dragging the city and state to the precipice of financial collapse.

The final argument of the men who ruined New York is that they did it to improve the "quality of life. Comes now a 44-page documented study from Dartmouth professor Colin Campbell and his wife, Rosemary, which dynamites the final defense line of Wagner, Rockefeller, Lindsay and Beame. The work is titled: "A Comparative Study of the Fiscal Systems of New Hampshire and Vermont, 1940-1974."

In climate, topography, size and economic circumstance, no two states are more alike. They differ markedly, however, in "tax effort."

Where Vermont is the third most heavily taxed state in the Union (right behind New York), New Hampshire ranks 47th. In Vermont, there is both a general sales and income tax; New Hampshire is the only state in the Union with neither. Local and state taxes upon the Vermonter are 47 percent higher than upon his neighbor across the Connecticut River.

If higher taxes and more government meant better services, certainly that should be reflected here. But the results of the Campbell study are these:

Though Vermont spends 9.6 percent of personal income on education, to New Hampshire's 6.6 percent, the educational achievement of adults in both states is the same, a median of 12.2 years of schooling. In New Hampshire the Scholastic Aptitude Test scores of high school students are slightly higher; and the pay of elementary and high school teachers is likewise higher than in Vermont.

Vermonters pay 4 percent of personal income on roads and highways to 2.9 percent in New Hampshire. Yet the Campbells could find no discernible difference in the quality of the respective road systems.

As for welfare, benefits per family are roughly equal or higher in New Hampshire, though only two percent of personal income in the Granite State goes for welfare, compared to 3.1 percent in Vermont.

Well, you may respond, perhaps Vermont uses broad-based taxes to reduce the burden on property owners, or prevent heavy borrowing that would put the state deeply into debt. Wrong, on both counts. Property taxes in New Hampshire take 6.2 percent of personal income, compared to 6.6 percent in Vermont. And state and local debt in Vermont is twice what it is across the river.

Is New Hampshire perhaps more favored with federal funds? Wrong again. Vermont gets federal assistance equal to 7.2 percent of personal income, twice the percentage given New Hampshire.

The final proof arrived last week. The New Hampshire unemployment rate is now 3.5 percent, lowest in the nation, equal to "full employment" even by liberal standards. In Vermont eight percent of the labor force is looking for a job.

What does it all mean? That when politicians talk about raising taxes to improve the "quality of life," it is not your life they are talking about. And the governors of the 50 states would do well to burn their Rockefeller reports and have a long look at the Campbell report. It is New Hampshire, not New York, that has found the way to state prosperity.

Denying realities has placed U.S. foreign policy in trouble

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "There is an unwritten code in the world," wrote the late French statesman-soldier Charles de Gaulle, "that realities should be hidden beneath surface apperances. And whenever someone makes those realities known, people never get over it."

This sage observation came to mind when the chairman of the joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. George S. Brown, correctly concluded that the state of Israel was a "military burden" to the United States. The storm Brown unleased for making public this reality speaks forcefully to why U. S. foreign policy, pursued by a procession of past presidents, is a combination of dangerous folly and of foolishness.

The reality is that Israel, as Brown pointed out, is a burden. During the 1973 Yom Kippur War the operational military inventory of the NATO nations was stripped of strategic weapons to replace Israeli losses. The denunciation of Brown by Jimmy Carter and the public reprimand by President Ford were, essentially, attempts to deny the reality of a fact of life after American Jewish leaders denounced the statement by this nation's number one soldier. No one denied the substance of Brown's statement, only that he chose to make the reality public!

This hypocritical exercise illustrates why American foreign policy has been in trouble for so many years. Because of domestic political pressures, this nation has sought to deny certain realities, among them that the conduct of our foreign policy has not always been in the national self-interest of America. For historical, political and moral reasons we have chosen to champion Israel at the cost of a good relationship with the majority of Arab nations — a number of which hold our economic fate and well being in their hands. Saudia Arabia, for example, is this nation's largest supplier of oil. Yet, both Ford and Carter strongly backed attempts by Israel and its vocal supporters in this nation to break the Arab blacklist of American businesses doing business with Israel. Such a policy may gain political support here at home but it could prove disastrous to this country's long-term economic and political interests abroad.

These issues were not discussed in the just-concluded presidential campaign. And when they were raised by Brown they were immediately consigned to political oblivion. The issues were further clouded by the emotional outburst of American Jews who, once again, insist that such public statements amount to anti-Semitism. This is an evasion, not an answer to the serious foreign policy question implied in Brown's comments. It is clear that there is to be no public debate or discussion because a voiciferous political minority can bring pressure to bear to prevent public discussion.

Our foreign policy in Africa has fallen victim to the same folly. Both Mr. Ford and Mr. Carter strongly backed "majority black rule" in Rhodesia and eventually in South Africa. Both have assumed this foreign policy posture because they believe this will gain them substantial political support of American blacks. Such a foreign policy, however, is likely — in the long run — to aid Soviet ambitions in southern Africa, doom the black majority in both nations to the kind of one-party dictatorship now in force in other black-ruled nations, and deny the U.S. strategic materials such as chrome in Rhodesia and gold in South Africa. Clearly what the U.S. has to gain from its policy in Africa is dubious and might even prove destructive to our national interests and to the interests of African blacks.

In Both the cases of U.S. policy in Africa and in the Middle East, no public discussion or dissent is allowed, and any dissenters are branded as "anti-black" or "anti-Jewish." The realities, in other words, are to be hidden beneath surface appearances for domestic political tranquility. Thus, since our political leadership here at home persists in denying realities, it is little wonder that reality retaliates in the form of Arab oil embargoes, which helped create the recent economic recession worldwide, or saw Angola overrun by the Russians and Cubans.

State legislators eye bigger paychecks

By BOB BERG
Panax Lansing Bureau Chief

LANSING — It looks like it will be a happy new year Jan. 1 for the leaders of Michigan state government.

They should be drawing bigger paychecks beginning then as a result of the deliberations of the State Officers Compensation Commission — the group which decides the salary question.

With its information gathering activities completed, all that lays before the seven members is to mull over the information and pick some numbers. Their attitude and the information they've put together all point to a pay hike.

This commission seems much more friendly towards the officials it is dealing with than the last two commissions. Four years ago officials get nothing and two years ago the commission grudgingly awarded a $2,000 raise to legislators, then tried to take back $950 because lawmakers had sweetened their own fringe benefits. The courts said that was improper, however, and the lawmakers got the full amount.

This time around the members have been cordial in their treatment of those testifying in favor of raises. The public figures involved, for their part, have been more circumspect in their approach.

Gov. Milliken, who has said he doesn't care what happens to his own pay, asked in a letter for raises for legislators, the lieutenant governor and the Supreme Court. The majority and minority leaders in the House and Senate asked in a letter for raises. Chief Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh asked the commission to come up with a unified proposal to tie the salaries of all judges in the state to Supreme Court salaries to eliminate the current system. Now, responsibility for judicial salaries is split among the commission, the legislature and the local governmental units of the state.

In testimony before the commission from such diverse groups as the State Bar, General Motors, Ford Motor Co., and the state superintendent of public instruction, the theme sounded was the same. You get, they all testified, what you pay for. Without a raise in salary levels, the quality of the institutions involved will deteriorate.

"It is important," Ford's Horace Sheldon said, "to keep legislative service within the reach of a large segment of society. Too many people in the state, who the state needs, can't afford to stay in public service."

Milliken advanced the same argument in his letter.

"I find it disturbing that within the past few years several outstanding elected officials in both the legislative and executive branches of government have found it necessary to leave public office due in part to financial pressures," he said.

State Bar President George Bushnell pointed out that the cost of living has risen 44 percent since 1970 and suggested state salary levels should at least keep pace.

That would mean a salary of $21,600 for legislators, instead of their current $19,000; $64,800 for the governor, instead of his current $45,000; $36,000 for the lieutenant governor, instead of his current $27,500; and $60,800 for supreme court judges, instead of the current $43,500.

Those may seem like stupendous increases, but it should be remembered the idea is to attract the best possible people into those jobs, since they have such a profound effect on the lives of every resident of the state.

State government is a $6 billion a year business and similar positions of responsibility in a private corporation with those revenues would be much higher in salary. If the governor's salary were raised to $64,800, that would still only be a middle level management salary in one of the Big Three automakers.

That seems to be the frame of mind of the seven members on the commission this time around. If it prevails, it will be a happier New Year for officeholders, and the pressure will be on them to show they deserve the pay.

Study Club donates $1,600 to Horizon Park

At its October meeting, held at the Lemontree Clubhouse, the Woman's Study Club donated $1600 to the Horizon Park Project. The $1600 was awarded to the Club in the Business for Beauty '74-'76 Contest co-sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Cities Service Company.

The Club's Home Life Committee, under the leadership of chairman Mrs. Charles O. Patterson, cited area businesses who had made visual improvements in their place of operation by presenting them with certificates and window decals. Of the five cited, the committee chose Huron Valley Steel as the area winner and compiled a scrapbook detailing its accomplishments. The scrapbook was submitted to the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs who awarded the entry first place (with an award of $100 to the club and a placque to Huron Valley Steel) and sent it to the Cities Service Company for national judging.

The national panel of judges cited Huron Valley Steel as second in the nation and awarded the club $1500. Monies received through the program must be used for community beautification and club members chose to use the money for the park which they (in cooperation with the Junior Study Club) proposed to the Bicentennial Committee and continue to promote.

In choosing to continue support for the project (sprinkling system, shoreline development, etc). of Horizon Park, the club decided to co-sponsor a Christmas cash raffle with the drawing for $100 as first prize and $50 second prize to take place at the Santa Claus Parade sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Plans for the annual guest outing included brunch at Nickerson's Tin Lizzie and a trip by bus to the Detroit Lions-Green Bay Packers football game on Oct. 31.

Additional funds for park

The new Horizon Park in Belleville, a Bicentennial project sponsored by the Woman's Study Club, is $1600 richer these late fall days due to an award garnered by the club's Home Life Committee. Under the leadership of Mrs. Charles O. Patterson (left) the club cited area businesses who had made visual improvements in their place of operation. Huron Valley Steel, its top winner, was named by the national panel of judges as recipient of the second place prize, $1500. The other $100 came as a result of the club's scrapbook which won first prize from the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs. With Mrs. Patterson when she presented the check to Jon Hale (right) chairman of the Belleville Bicentennial Committee, were Mrs. Merrill Bird, committee member, Mrs. Pat Baughman and Mrs. John Petrasky, members of the club.

Class of '36 reunites at dinner party

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The year 1936 was an election year, too, with Franklin Delano Roosevelt vying for his second term in office. Unlike today, high school seniors weren't too involved in the proceedings since it would be another four years before they could cast their first presidential ballot.

The 49 seniors at Belleville High School also graduated during a year which saw the Yankees win the American League pennant, Miss Philadelphia take the Miss America crown and Michigan set a record high of 112 degrees in July.

The class, Belleville's 55th to march to "Pomp and Circumstance", had swelled the rank of seniors to 49 as compared to its 1882 counterpart with only six graduates.

Little did they realize on their commencement night that many of the men in their class would be called veterans of World War II when they met 40 years later, in 1976, for their big reunion.

Plans got underway for the fall party earlier in the year when The Rev. William Richards of Kalamazoo contacted a few of his classmates and explained his ideas for the reunion.

His proposals came to fruition on Oct. 16 when the group amassed at its old stomping grounds — Belleville High School — for a guided tour of the facilities. Doris Roe, the widow of Cleveland Roe who had been superintendent of schools when the class graduated, was hostess for the occasion.

For their Bicentennial year reunion, there were, coincidentally, 76 who attended the social hour and dinner which followed at the Holiday Inn's Wolverine Room in Ann Arbor.

Bicentennial year reunion

Here they are — 40 years later — back at their old alma mater, Belleville High School. The class of 1936 didn't even dream of an administration building (before which they stand) when they graduated nor did they visualize the many changes their school would experience over the years. The group of 76 began their reunion day with a tour of the facilities conducted by Mrs. Doris Roe, widow of Cleveland Roe who had been superintendent of schools when the group received its diplomas.

Decor for the party centered on the blue and white class colors and included dried flower arrangements, reproductions of the 1936 senior edition of the school paper which were used as favors, a display table of high school keepsakes and a punch table with a flowing fountain.

The Rev. Richards (better known as "Rev. Bill" to his friends) welcomed the guests who stood while he acknowledged the six class members and seven faculty and administration members who are deceased.

Another member of the class, The Rev. Darryl Harris of Old Hickory, Tenn., offered the invocation after which Rev. Bill introduced the class president, Frank Ondrovik, who had come from Dallas, Tex. to serve as emcee for the evening. He, in turn, thanked Rev. Bill for composing and mailing the letters which went to 42 members (all but one) of the class who had been located. He also congratulated the 40 who responded with questionnaires for the memory book as well as the six previous classmates and 10 faculty who answered.

Also acknowledged were Alice Riggs Herkimer, Leona Kozma, Frances Whichello Bitnar and Alice Richards Patterson, all of Belleville. The quartet had taken on the duties of doing the banking, making place cards, designing and duplicating the memory book, acquiring music, typing questionnaires, locating 1936 and 1976 pennies for favors and decorating the dining room. Louis Reuter of Sandusky, Ohio was thanked for being photographer for the day.

The program began with Julia Savage Hoopingarner of Berrien Springs at the pianoas Fred Riggs of E. Lansing led the group in singing the old school song, "Orange and Black." Alice Herkimer and Chester Thurston, both of Belleville, then read and commented on the 1936 class prophecy.

The class salutatorian, Mrs. Hoopingarner, gave the welcome address while class treasurer, Steve Kozma of Belleville, reported on the financial status of the graduates in 1936. He also paid tribute to the memory of Coach Carl Simmons and his athletic achievements.

Mrs. Jack Kulzer, who had been the girls' basketball coach, said her hellos to the group after which class secretary, Margaret Owen Betts of Ypsilanti, and Frances Bitnar made the presentation of floral arrangements.

Receiving the gifts were the Frank Ondrovicks of Dallas who had traveled the farthest; the Lawrence Kishes of Westland who were the first to respond; the Oldrich Bitnars for having been the first married and for having the oldest child; The Rev. and Mrs. Darryl Harris for being parents of the youngest child; Dick and Shirley (Vorce) Wood of Belleville for being the most recently married; Ed and Margaret Betts, parents of the most children; Mrs. Steve (Leona) Kozma for her time and patience in duplicating the memory books; and Mrs. Hoopingarner and Mrs. Desire Hancotte, nee Phyllis McMullan, saluatorian and valedictorian, respectively.

Faculty members receiving flowers were the Gillman Mullreeds, Mrs. Cleveland Roe, Mrs. Rufus Bird, the Earl Hollars, Mrs. Stanley James, nee Olga Harem; Mrs. Jack Kulzer, Mrs. Carl Simmons and the Merle Touses.

Others on the speakers' rostrum were Sam Kopp of Dearborn, class vice-president; Phyllis Hancotte, valedictorian; Charles Wolfe of Plymouth, former editor of the school paper, and Mrs. Roe.

The highlight of the evenings was the presentation of memory books by Mr . Mullreed who, as president of the school board, had awarded diplomas to the group in 1936. He was assisted by Verda Savage Porter of Ogden Dunes, Ind. The 64-page books were comprised of photos and excerpts from the original yearbook. They also included questionnaires which each classmate had filled out and which had been duplicated and which asked for information on single or married status, spouse's name, number of children and grandchildren, occupations held over the 40 years, travels, experiences, momentous moments, plans for the future, home and retirement and other remarks.

It was found that 15 of the class were still residents of Belleville with others scattered in nearby cities as well as across the country — in Alabama, Tennessee, California and Texas. One classmate, J. Patrick Wall, wrote a lengthy letter from Tehran, Iran where he is an advisor to the minister of war for Iran.

Occupations covered automobile companies, government, insurance, utilities, and the clergy with 11 of the graduates opting for degrees in education after their senior year.

In closing, President Androvick requested that everyone send him a note at Christmas and he would see to mailing a news letter come the new year.

Belleville band alumni sought

Former Belleville bandsmen, where are you?

That's the question the Belleville Band Boosters are seeking answers to since they are in the process of compiling information for a history of the band which began in October of 1926.

If you are a former band member, please contact the Belleville Band Boosters, PO. Box 98, Belleville 48111. Include your name and address, what instrument you played and in what years you performed.

The committee is especially anxious for information from the 1929 and 1948 Belleville High School yearbooks. If you have one the committee could borrow, please drop them a line. They also need photographs, data and the names of those who participated as bandsmen in the years 1930 through 1935. During those depression years there were no yearbooks to readily supply the information. Can you help?

In keeping with the 50-year celebration, the annual "Cabaret" dance sponsored by the Band Boosters in February will be designated with a golden theme.

A special spring concert is also being planned to commemorate the anniversary. The committee is particularly anxious to have former band alumni present for the concert since the program will go back to 1926 and work up to the present.

Sheep were pets

In the Bible, the first domesticated animal mentioned is sheep. Contemporary archeologists disagree on whether the dog or the sheep was the first animal domesticated by man, but they agree that sheep were the first meat-animals domesticated. Prehistoric man recognized sheep for their ability to provide both meat and clothing.

DECISION-MAKING UNDER STRESS

It is difficult to realize the magnitude of emotional and physical stress that persons confronted with the loss of loved one must bear.

After such a loss, people grieve. They feel pain. They have been shocked out of their usual pattern of living. In mourning, they are faced with the need to assume responsibility for duties that may be foreign to them. Religious arrangements. Legal inquiries and actions. Financial responsibilities fall on the bereaved with actions which must be taken quickly, decisively.

An important example of the many matters to be attended to promptly is the funeral. Bearing in mind that the psychological value of the funeral has no relationship to its cost, the cost of a funeral is but one aspect of the many decisions to be made under stressful conditions. Caught up in the bewilderment of grief, the bereaved may be emotionally unable to arrange for a funeral wisely or effectively. They may yield to what they may feel is social pressure. At the same time, in their desire to show their love, they may proceed with arrangements costlier than would have been wished for by the deceased.

If the deceased, however, had made his wishes known in advance, decisions would have been wiser. This is one of the main reasons why pre-planning is a sensible procedure.

At the family table, with the discussion of these matters before everyone, each individual's wishes can be acknowledged and pursued before there is an actual need.

Junior Scouts reactivated at Mt. Pleasant School

The Junior Girl Scout Troop at Mt. Pleasant School in Romulus has been reactivated. Two ceremonies in October welcomed fourth, fifth and sixth grade girls into the troop.

On Oct. 11, girls who had been Brownie Scouts took part in a fly-up and rededication ceremony held jointly with Brownie Troop 742. The girls, some of whom had waited two years to join a Junior Girl Scout troop, were not dismayed when the wooden bridge used to symbolize the journey from Brownies to Juniors proved too wide to be carried into the gym. They simply held the ceremony out of doors.

Mrs. Gail Blanchard, Brownie leader, assisted by Mrs. Sylvia Peters, Mrs. Gayle Nash and Mrs. Betty Bryan, presented membership stars and Brownie wings to the girls flying up. Each girl crossed the bridge and was welcomed into the troop by Mrs. Joan Amarzu, Junior leader, and Mrs. Kathleen Barr, Mrs. Frances Haapapuro and Mrs. Sylvia Peters, assistant leaders. As each girl received her Junior Girl Scout trefoil pin, her mother was asked to step forward and pin it on her.

The girls flying up were Sandra Barr, Sherry Breeding, Jacalyn Bryan, Amy Garland, Janis Haapapuro, Thelma Hughey, Rhonda Mapes, Brenda Merriman, Patricia Nash, Cindy Niedermeyer, Kim Noblett, Sue Omarzu and Kelly Vardy.

Tammy Sheldon and Leah Peters, who had belonged to other Junior troops, also took part in the ceremony. Kristie Miller and Sheila Mimnaugh joined later in the month.

On Oct. 25 nine girls, who had never been Brownie Girl Scouts, joined the troop. In order to qualify for membership, each girl had to attend four meetings and learn the Girl Scout promise. During the candlelight investiture ceremony, each girl told why she wanted to be a Girl Scout, read a law, recited the promise and received a trefoil membership pin. Girls joining the troop in the investiture ceremony were Starr Dailey, Sherry Demmy, Lori Dawson, Amy Haapapuro, Tracy Owen, Kathy Scafe, Julie Willcockson, Amy Zaremba and Audra Zaremba.,

The girls divided into patrols and chose patrol leaders. They are working to earn badges and are learning to govern themselves through the patrol system.

Afternoon wedding unites Greg Ivan, Mary Lou Orskey

A honeymoon in Northern Michigan followed the Oct. 2 wedding of Mary Lou Orskey and Gregory A. Ivan who exchanged double ring vows at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

The 5 p.m. ceremony was conducted by The Rev. Joy Arthur and The Rev. Raymond Skoney with Mrs. Richard Flavell providing organ selections for the occasion.

Parents of the young couple, who are now making their home on Biggs Street in Belleville, are Mr. and Mrs. John Orskey of 14250 Martinsville Road and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ivan of 286 E. Huron River Drive, all of Belleville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding day a toe-touching creation of embroidered dacron batiste over taffeta. The little fitted bodice was cut with a V-neckline enhanced with lace and long, full sleeves.

She wore a white soft-brimmed picture hat accented with illusion veiling and carried a cascade bouquet of apricot daisy mums, Hawaiian wood roses and Talisman roses.

As her sister's honor attendant, Shirley Orskey of Ann Arbor donned a gown of yellow gauze over taffeta and a matching picture hat. Her bouquet was comprised of bronze and yellow daisy mums and wood roses.

Faye Ivan, sister of the bridegroom; Pam Melton, Pat Smith, another sister of the bridegroom; and Linda Smith wore duplicates of Miss Orskey's ensemble, only in apricot, for their roles as bridesmaids.

Five-year-old Amy Renton, cousin of the bride, wore a miniature version of the honor maid's dress and carried a basket filled with bronze and yellow daisy mums and wood roses. Gary Smith, the 5-year old nephew of the bridegroom, carried out the duties of ringbearer.

The bridegroom asked his brother, Richard Ivan, to be best man. Ushers were Fred Flavell, Russell, Chris and Carl Stinehour and John and David Orskey, brothers of the bride.

At the reception which followed at the Romulus Progressive Club, the 300 guests were greeted by Mrs. Orskey in a long blue polyester knit gown and Mrs. Ivan wearing a two-tone green chiffon formal. Both mothers were honored with corsages of bronze mums and wood roses.

The bride and bridegroom both graduated from Belleville High School and she currently is working for the Van Buren School System.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Nickerson's Tin Lizzie with the bridegroom's parents, the Frank Ivans, as hosts.

MRS. GREGORY A. IVAN

Hnots honored on anniversary

A former Romulus couple, Joseph and Anna Hnot of Alpena, were back in the area recently to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

The Hnots, who reside at 9171 W. Long Lake Rd., Alpena, formerly made their home on Wabash Street in Romulus.

Mrs. Hnot was Anna Steifer when she exchanged wedding vows on Sept. 19, 1926. Five children born to the union were Joseph of Garden City; Dorothy Dummitt of Wayne; Helen Ingram of Willis; Mary Talaga of Belleville and Edward of Wayne. The family tree also includes 18 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

The Wayne Moose Hall was reserved for the reception which followed services and a renewal of wedding vows at St. Aloysius Church in Romulus. Given by their children, the party was attended by some 150 guests from New Jersey and neighboring cities.

Among those attending were members of the original wedding party, Edward and Lottie Straka and Paul and Francis Hnot. For her special day, the bride of 50 years chose a formal gold gown to which she added her corsage of yellow carnations.

Mr. Hnot, who wore a white boutonniere, is retired from the Ford Motor Co.

MR. AND MRS. CLAUS C. FUCHS

Bride's father officiates at New England ceremony

The South Lancaster Village Church of Seventh-day Adventists in South Lancaster, Mass. was the setting recently for the ceremony which united Linda Lee Swanson and Claus Christian Fuchs in holy matrimony.

The bride's father, Pastor Arnold R. Swanson, presided at the 8 p.m. rite before some 500 assembled relatives and friends.

Lighted candles and greenery in each window set the mood for the service which included two solos, "Ode to Joy" and "God Bless This Marriage", by Hope Charlestream.

The daughter of Pastor and Mrs. Arnold R. Swanson of 41 Goss Lane, South Lancaster, the bride entered the church in an off-white A-line gown of chiffon with a V-neck lace bodice. The long, pleated sleeves ended in a ruffle to match that which edged the full-length skirt. Her picture hat was enhanced by a partial veil of filmy illusion. Both the dress and headgear were designed and made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Gwendolyn Jamieson.

Completing her bridal finery was a hand arrangement of a dozen white roses with fern backing.

The bridal coterie included the maid of honor, Rebecca Hamm; Brenda Boynton, Cynthia Diamond, Tammy Jamieson, a cousin of the bride; and Nancy Palmer, all from New England.

They wore pale blue dresses flounced at the hemline and carried single white roses.

Katie Gilliland, the 6-year-old niece of the bridegroom and daughter of the Farrell Gillilands of Berrien Springs, dropped rose petals as she walked up the aisle. Her little frock, made of the same light blue fabric used for the senior attendants' gowns, was accented by an off-white apron which matched the bridal gown.

Six-year old Jason Schmidt, the son of the Ariel Schmidts of South Lancaster, served as Bible boy.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans R. Fuchs of 45167 Harris Rd., Belleville, asked Michael Jamieson, the bride's cousin from New England, to serve as best man. Groomsmen included Jim Brassard of New England; Eric Fuchs, brother of the bridegroom from Belleville; and Joe Kretschmar and Rick Spindler, friends from New England.

An outdoor reception for 350 guests followed at the Thayer Mansion, Atlantic Union College in South Lancaster. For the occasion the bride's mother donned a pale blue ensemble to which she pinned her corsage of roses. Mrs. Fuchs, the bridegroom's mother, chose to wear a long blue gown with a companion jacket. She, too, was honored with a rose corsage.

After a week-long honeymoon at a lakeside camp in Liberty, Maine, the newlyweds took up residence in Pontiac, Mich. at 712 Glenbrooke, Apt. 19312.

The new Mrs. Fuchs received her bachelor of science degree at Atlantic Union College in South Lancaster and currently teaches third and fourth grades at Pontiac Junior Academy.

Her husband attended Andrews University in Berrien Springs and Atlantic Union College. He now is continuing studies at Wayne State University in Detroit where he is majoring in biology.

The evening before the wedding the bridegroom's parents entertained at a rehearsal party in the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Blend reports on European trip

"A Trip Through Europe" was the subject of a talk given recently by Mrs. D.W. Blend, at the regular meeting of the Huron Valley Garden Club held at the home of Mrs. Melvin Budd.

Mrs. Blend and her husband toured Europe in September for three weeks in a trip sponsored by the National Garden Clubs Association. Emphasis was given to the horticultural aspects of the places visited.

Mrs. Blend was particularly impressed by the island of Maino near Salzburg, Austria, which she termed a horticultural paradise. While in the area, the Blends visited Mozart's birthplace.

In Vienna, the group was privileged to hear the Vienna Boys' Choir at a private recital. They attended the ballet and light opera and toured the Vienna Woods.

In Switzerland, they stayed at Lucerne and visited Mt. Tantilus and the Matterhorn.

The Octoberfest was in progress in Munich. Mrs. Blend described the festival which was held in a meadow nearby.

She termed the tour a vivid and most interesting experience for gardeners.

2 Belleville men take part in exercises

Two Belleville residents recently took part in two separate NATO training exercises in the North and Mediterranean seas.

Navy Radioman Seaman Appren. David G. Hood, 19, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Grimm of 40085 Robbee, Belleville, participated on the exercise "Bonded Item" in the North Sea, while Navy Airman Herman Green, the son of Mrs. Susie Bullock of 24200 Sumpter Road, Belleville, participated in the NATO exercise "Display Determination" in the Mediterranean Sea.

Seaman Hood is serving aboard the frigate USS Edward McDonnel, homeported in Mayport, Fla. He was one of 10,000 navymen and 11,000 ground troops from the United States, Denmark and the Federal Republic of Germany who recently took part in the coordinated amphibious, land and air exercise.

The primary objective of the exercise was to evaluate and enhance the Allied capabilities for amphibious support for northern western Europe. Participating units evaluated increased standardization of doctrines, equipment and armaments among NATO forces, plus command and control procedures for coordinated action by NATO sea, land and air forces.

A 1975 graduate of Belleville High School, he joined the Navy in August 1975.

Navy Airman Herman Green is a crewmember aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Nimitz, deployed with the U.S. Sixth Fleet. His command joined with naval forces from Portugal, Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom for the combined exercise which included convoy preparations, amphibious asault landings and anti-submarine warefare maneuvers.

The primary objective of the exercise was to train NATO naval forces in combined sea operations, to refire NATO procedures and ensure that operational plans were current.

The convoy operation tested Allied capabilities to reinforce and resupply ground forces in southern Europe. Acting as opposing forces, NATO units simulated surface, subsurface and air attacks along the convoy's routs.

Green is a former student of Eastern High School in Detroit.

Also in the armed forces:

Meritorious service at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Mich., has earned the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal for S. Sgt. Kathryn K. Look, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Mullikin of Wauzeka, Wis., and whose husband, S. Sgt. Norman K. Look, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Look of 22038 Cheville Road, Romulus.

Sgt. Look, a passenger and households goods specialist, was presented the medal at Chicksands Royal Air Force Station, England, where she now serves with a unit of the U.S. Air Force Security Service.

U.S. Air Force Capt. Edward G. Genaw, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Genaw of 12120 Sharon, Romulus, has been certified as a missile combat crew commander at Whiteman Air Force Base, Mo.

Capt. Genaw, a missile launch officer, was recommended for upgrading by the wing commander after meeting stringent training and evaluation requirements.

The captain, a 1960 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, was commissioned in 1972 through Officer Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Navy Chief Boatswain's Mate Lawrence Kangas, whose wife, Diana, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll W. Bush of New Boston, has participated in Mayport, Fla.

"Computex I-77" was a 2-week exercise conducted by the U.S. Second fleet off the coast of northern Florida. The exercise was designed to provide training in surface, anti-submarine warefare and task group operations. Nine U.S. Navy ships, the Coast Guard Cutter Gallatin and a German frigate, FGS Moelders, took part in the exercise.

Seaman Blaine D. Shattuck, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grany B. Shattuck of 600-59 Sumpter Road, Belleville, participated in the NATO Exercise "Display Determination."

He is a crewmember on the replenishment oiler USS Milwaukee, deployed with the U.S. Sixth Fleet. His command joined with naval forces from Portugal, Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom for the combined exercise, which included convoy operations, amphibious assault landings and anti-submarine warefare manuevers.

Marching Hurons

Three Belleville residents are marching in tune to the beat of the Eastern Michigan University marching band, which plays at the Hurons' home football games, under the direction of Dr. Thomas Tyra. Part of the college's band unit are Terri Gamble (from left), the daughter of Mr. and Mrs., Richard Gamble, a clarinet player and freshman majoring in music education; Karen Griess, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jerald Griess, a sophmore and member of the flag corps, and Sheree Vincent, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vincent, a clarinet player and sophomore majoring in business management.

First aid stations available

Wayne County Commisssioners Thomas Presnell of Westland and Royce E Smith of Belleville this week said portable 20-cot first aid stations will be provided to eligible locatlities in Wayne County by the Office of Civil Defense to strengthen local disaster preparedness.

"These completely-packaged first aid stations and other medical supplies are being made available to local public service agencies such as police and fire departments, emergency medical units and hospitals," the commissioners said in a joint statement.

The equipment, with an estimated total value of $3000,000, has been maintained by the county civil defense office for a number of years in the form of four completely packaged 200-bed disaster hospitals.

The hospitals are being broken down into 40 20-cot first aid stations, designed to be set up in facilities such as school gymnasiums. Bedding and first aid dressings and supplies are included.

The commissioners explained the reason for giving the equipment to the localities:

"The threat of a nuclear attack is more remote than the possibility of a natural disaster, such as a tornado, or an accident in which a number of people are injured.We want these emergency supplies to be as readily available as possible.

"The decision to break the supplies down into smaller packages and distribute it to cities and townships was made ny county Civil Defense Director George Young in consultation with the Board of Commissioners and the Michigan Office of Civil Defense."

Various qualities of individual medical supplies such as surgical instruments,as well as emergency building items such as nails and tools, also are available, Young said.

The State Civil Defense Office gave approval for the release of the equipment to the 25 local governmental units under the jurisdiction of his office, he added.

The eligible localities include the Western Wayne County communities of Belleville, Canton Township, Huron Township,Romulus, Sumpter Township, Van Buren Township and Westland.

Officials laud out-county's Circuit Court

Four Western Wayne County commissioners have described a new suburban Circuit Court program as a "strong beginning in an overall plan to bring more county services closer to the people."

County officials recently inaugurated a pilot program in Westland that will bring limited Circuit Court services to 18 Western Wayne County communities.

Commissioner Thomas Presnell of Westland said this is just the first step in a continuing effort by the Board of Commissioners to "put the services where the people are, free up local police and save local communities and citizens."

He announced plans to follow through on this "movement by out county commissioners to extend more services into the far corners of Wayne County" by co-sponsoring a resolution calling for satellite branches of the County Clerk's office.

Also spearheading the drive to expand the court and other county services are Commissioners John Barr of Dearborn Heights, Royce Smith of Belleville and Edgar L. Harris of Taylor.

Barr said: "The population in suburban Wayne County has been growing at a tremendous rate. At the same time, many county facilities located in or near downtown Detroit, the county seat, are congested and in need of relief.

"We could help fill both needs by utilizing more outcounty facilities and initiating programs that work best within the framework of the local community."

Commissioner Smith added: "Efficiency in service, government and police operations was an important consideration in our push to establish the new court program.

"But right along with that benefit we recognized there would be a significant cost savings for the local communities — as well as the individual citizen who always stands to save money when services are nearby."

The new suburban court program is expected to save local communities hundreds of thousands in tax dollars each year since police officers will no longer have to bring prisoners into downtown Detroit for felony pretrial court appearances.

A courtroom in a building on the grounds of Wayne County General Hospital was opened Oct. 18 to handle the pretrial work for 18 communities on a 30-40-60-day test-run basis.

The 18 communities selected for the trial court program are Livonia, Redford, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Wayne, Westland, Garden City, Inkster, Romulus, Belleville, Northville, Plymouth and the townships of Huron, Sumpter, Van Buren, Canton, Northville and Plymouth.

Under the pilot program Presiding Circuit Court Judge James Canham appoints Circuit Court judges or designates District Court judges to serve in that role in the out-county courtrooms.

Improving services

Western Wayne County communities will be saving money in trying criminals at the Circuit Court level with the opening of the first out-county courtroom in A Building of Wayne County General Hospital-Eloise. On hand for the opening ceremonies of the first courtroom of a pilot program to keep our-county officers from traveling to Detroit for court hearings were Wayne County Board of Commissioners' Chairman John Barr (from left), Commissioner Edgar Harris, Judge Joseph B. Sullivan of the Wayne County Circuit Court, Commissioner Royce E. Smith, Van Buren Township, Police Chief John Willet and Belleville Police Chief Clayton McLaughlin. The pilot project would allow Circuit Court trials to be conducted in designated out-county areas by designated district judges.—ANP photo.

Meadow Brook ready for 'Night of the Iguana'

Tennessee Williams' drama, "The Night of The Iguana," will begin a 4-week run at the Meadow Brook Theatre at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow on the Oakland University campus in Rochester.

The action of the play takes place during a single evening in 1940, the year of the Battle of Britain. The setting is a remote Bohemian hotel high on a jungle-covered hilltop overlooking the West Coast of Mexico. Played out on the veranda of this raffish establishment is a curiously moving drama on the lonely human condition.

The characters include a lusty hotel keeper who recently has been widowed, a defrocked alcoholic priest, a spinster artist and her ancient poet grandfather.

The hotel keeper will be played by Marie Wallace who was Billie Dawn in "Born Yesterday" at Meadow Brook last spring. David Canary is cast as the priest. Canary played the role of Candy, a running part on television's "Bonanza" series. Meadow Brook regular Elisabeth Orion will be seen as the spinster and Richard Hilger, who was Henry Straker in last month's "Man and Superman", will play her aged grandfather.

Others in the cast include Joyce Feurring, James Corrigan, Cheryl Giannini, William Halliday, Christa Gievers, George Romaine, Melanie Resnick, Arthur Barsamian, Fred Thompson and Roger Hilborn.

This production of "The Night of The Iguana" will be directed by Charles Nolte with a set by Lance Brockman, costumes executed by Mary Lynn Bonnell and lighting by Jean A. Montgomery.

Opening week performances are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. tomorrow and Friday, 2 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. The following three weeks will have performances at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 6 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Saturday, and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Wednesday matinees begin at 2 p.m. The theatre is dark on Mondays.

Maize and blue marchers

The University of Michigan band, 250 bandsmen strong, has attracted several Bellevillites to its ranks for the 1976-77 school year. The band is making eight halftime appearances during the Big 10 power's home games this fall. Part of the bandsmen who march under the school colors of maize and blue are Sandra Jane Scothorn of East Huron River Drive (from left), Diane Louise Craven of Fisher, and David James Salisbury of Elwell Road, who joined Alfred Ahronheim, graduate assistant to the University of Michigan Band, for a photo session.

County budget holds line on '77 spending

A hold-the-line tentative annual budget of some $364.6 million will be before the Wayne County Board of Commissioners for final action tomorrow,

Both the county Board Chairman John Barr, and the Ways and Means Committee chairman, Samuel A. Turner, predicted an unhealthy money situation, but also expressed confidence that the county would survive next year without employee layoffs or reduction in services considered essential by majority of commissioners.

Barr said: "In order to prevent layoffs or the closing of any departments, we have ordered mandatory savings throughout the county amounting to $2.5 million, or 7 percent of the entire payroll.

"We have asked every department to tighten their belts and to their utmost save money while still maintaining the high quality of service provided in the past.

"In all of our county operations, are expecting a more effective use of both personnel and equipment, and a more concentrated effort in general management practives." He also noted that for the first time in many years there are no proposals for completely new programs in this year's budget consideration.

Barr also said the commissioners will require departments to furnish more reporting of their activities this year, and that quarterly reviews will come under closer scrutiny.

"We also have asked our Board of Auditors to give closer attention to our expenditures, and we are expecting that any county employee at any level will help us achieve the aticipated savings we need to maintain most services and prevent layoffs that aren't absolutely necessary."

Commissioner Turner said substantial savings will occur from an order not to fill most vacant job positions, from retirement attrition and a concerted effort to reduce overtime.

The new budget is approximately $47.3 million less than asked for by county departments and agencies, and also represents an increase of around $31.7 million over the budget for the current fiscal year, which ends Nov. 30.

Besides increases in costs of goods and services because of inflation, the increased budget is due primarily to court-ordered expansion of jail facilities and improvements at Juvenile Court. The two projects will cost nearly $7 million.

Some popular units in the Sheriff,s department suffered cutbacks, including the township road patrols, the helicopter patrol, the metropolitan narcotics squad and airport patrol, and the community relations division. Each unit is funded through June 30, 1977 only.

Anticipated revenues in the budget included $1.1 million which would have to be collected from townships for services provided by the Sheriff's township patrols.

In their budget recommendation the auditors pointed out that both Circuit Court and the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that the County has authority to curtail or end road patrol services, although the townships have appealed to the State Supreme Court.

The auditors recommended that the helicopter patrol be eliminated July 1 when a labor contract which forced reinstatement of the patrol a few weeks ago expires.

The helicopters were eliminated from this year's budget as a low priority item, but were restored by a labor arbitration ruling that the cut was precluded by contract.

Free tests to be available for detection of diabetes

Free testing for diabetics will be available during Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 7-13, at several hospitals in Western Wayne County.

The American Diabetes Association-Michigan Affiliate is sponsoring the testing in cooperation with 147 hospitals throughout the state.

Diabetes is a serious disease that is the leading cause of new blindness, and a major cause of heart attacks and kidney failures. Persons who run a high risk of developing diabetes are those over 40 years of age, overweight, the relative of a diabetic, or the mother of a child weighing 9 lbs. or more at birth.

However, anyone at any age can become a diabetic, according to Nancy Caputo, MD, chairman of detection for the the diabetes affiliate.

The most common symptoms of diabetes are excessive thirst, frequent urination, constant hunger, loss of weight, itching, tiring easily, blurring vision and sow healing of cuts and scratches. The disease, however, can be present without any symptoms, Dr. Caputo said.

The free testing is limited to residents 18 years of age and older who have not been diagnosed as diabetics previously. To assure an accurate test, a big meal which is heavy in starches and sugars, should be eaten approximately two hours before.

A good breakfast to have before the test would be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, buttered toast with jam and coffee or tea. For those planning to have the test after lunch their luncheon meal could be a bowl of soup, sandwich, cake or pie for dessert and a glass of milk. The meal should be eaten within 15-minute time period and nothing else except water should be drunk or eaten before the test.

The testing sites and times are :

—Annapolis Hospital laboratory, located at 33155 Annapolis Avenue, Wayne, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Nov. 8 and Nov. 12 with the latter date for those 12 years of age and older.

—Metropolitan West Hospital and Health Center, located at 28303 Joy Road, Westland, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Nov. 8 and Nov. 12.

—Wayne County General Hospital's Department of Pathology at Eloise, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Nov. 8-10 and Nov. 12.

Grant to help build hiking-biking trails

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) has applied to the grants-in-aid section of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for land and Water Funds for construction in Stony Creek Metropark near Utica and Kensington Metropark near Milford of approximately 2.5 miles of a hiking-biking trail in each recreational facility.

David O. Laidlaw, director of the HCMA, said the trails would be developed gradually over a period of several years. Total cost of each project is $100,000, wherein the grant would be for $50,000 or one-half of the cost of each bike-hike trail.

The public is invited to express comments about these proposed projects by writing to Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 3050 Penobscot Building, Detroit 48226.

County applies for public works funding

Wayne County will apply for nearly $30 million in federal emergency public works funds for the construction of a new Juvenile Court Building and 18 other capital improvement projects.

The list of proposed projects was released by John Barr, chairman of the county Board of Commissioners, and Commissioner Royce E. Smith, representing the board's Public Works Committee.

Barr, noting that the federal program is designed to boost employment, said the projects would generate some 2,000 new construction jobs locally, plus hundreds of new jobs among suppliers of building materials.

Smith said the federal funds would enable the county to "attend to pressing public facility needs that have been accumulating for years, but have been unmet due to severe financial restraints".

"For the last three yeae years, whenever the county budget has included an entry for capital improvements, the money has been used for emergency projects such as more jail facilities, because of our increasing crime problems and demands of the courts," he added.

Barr said the county is seeking $5 million to build a new 3-story Juvenile Court building next to the court's present complex on Forest, east of the Chrysler Freeway in Detroit. The two court buildings would be connected by a second-floor bridge.

"Juvenile Court has outgrown its present quarters," Barr said."The additional space would improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the juvenile justice system."

Another $1,997,400 in federal funds is being sought for renovation of the present Juvenile Court building.

Also heading the county's application list for funding is $5 million for renovation of the psychiatric hospital at Eloise, $4.9 million for construction of a new medical examiner's office and morgue, and approximately $8 million for improvements at Wayne County General Hospital, plus $3.4 million for a new Cooperative Extension Service facility.

One of the more unique requests is $565,548 for cleaning, caulking and refurbishing the exterior of the old county building. This historically important building, located in downtown Detroit on Randolph at Cadillac Square, was built in 1902.

A total of $2 billion will be available nationally under the Local Public Works Capital Development and Investment Act passed by Congress earlier this year.

Some $157 million will be distributed in Michigan. The money is earmarked for local government capital improvement projects that will "provide stimulus to the economy and create jobs for the unemployed, particularly in the construction industry", according to the act.

Barr said: "Wayne County was in the forefront in the fight before Congress to obtain this badly needed public works money."

The county joined with other governmental units and the business community in a coalition to urge adoption of this program.

The new Medical Examiner's facility would be constructed on a parcel of city-owned land on Ferry between Rivard and Russell in Detroit. The present morgue dates from 1924 and is located at Brush and East Lafayette.

The Cooperative Extension Service facility would consist of a model farm, demonstration gardens and an administration building. It would be located at Venoy and Van Born roads in the City of Wayne. The present extension center is located on Wayne Road in Wayne.

Speaking of the old county building, Chairman Barr said: "We are hoping to get this grand old lady of the county all fixed up for her 75th birthday next year."

Inaddition, $862,361 has been requested for a Sheriff's pistol range at the Patrol and Investigation Headquarters on Henry Ruff Road in Westland. It is expected that federal action will be taken by Dec. 1. Work is scheduled to begin March 1, 1977.

Beware of poisoning

If you develop a sore throat, seem tired, depressed or dizzy after spraying for roaches in your home, or dusting for fungi in your garden, there is a possibility you could be suffering from pesticide poisoning.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Region V, is asking residents to remember if they have been around any type of insecticide, herbicide or fungicide when reporting strange sickness symptoms to a doctor.

EPA recently established a computerized pesticide poisoning reporting system to help health care workers and doctors. The system enables doctors and other health care workers to more easily identify cases of pesticide poisoning and come up with suitable antidotes.

The system also gives the affected person a chance to know if there are any reported long-term effects from continuous exposure to the pesticide.

Pesticide poisoning mimics a host of other symptoms, so it is important for the public to remember if they have been in contact with any type of pesticide. The more reports of data EPA receives, the more information it will be able to return to the public and health care workers.

EPA computerizes the data after it receives it from the cooperating state health department.

Glenn 2 away from 'perfect' season

Rockets overcome Lathrup; up streak to 10 games

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

With the Northwest Suburban Conference football championship secured, Westland John Glenn returned to out-of-the conference competition last week and had to overcome a lackadaisical first half to rout Southfield Lathrup 27-6 Friday night.

The victory stretched Glenn's winning streak to 10 games and kept its post-season playoff hopes burning. If the Westlanders can beat Berkley (1-6) Friday and Wayne Memorial, a week from Friday, they could possibly wind up as the Region II playoff representative.

But there are too many variables to be considered at this point of the game.

What is a fact is that Glenn has Berkley on its mind this week and Coach Lutri cautioned, "that Berkley is far better than its record indicated.

"We have to be ready for them, that's all there is to it," he added.

Lutri was disappointed with the Rockets first half showing at Lathrup labeling it, "the worst performance by this team this season.

"However, in all fairness I felt we played our best offensive game of the season in the second half."

The two teams were scoreless after the first 12 minutes of the duel, then Glenn put 14 points on the scoreboard in the second quarter, each after long drives.

Bill Lee sneaked in from one yard out to culminate a 72-yard, six play drive early in the second quarter to give the Rockets a 6-0 lead. Then Mark Grabowski kicked his first of three extra pointers of the evening.

Glenn got on the scoreboard again after an exchange of punts with Jeff Preston driving in from four-yards out to culminate a 55-yard, four-play drive.

But Lathrup came back in the waning minutes of the initial half to more 72-yards and score from the two thanks to Gil Wissing's lunge. That left only 44 seconds to the intermission.

Glenn managed to protect its 14-6 edge until early in the fourth quarter when the Rockets struck again, this time with Cliff Williamson capturing the spotlight. Williams on returned a punt 73 yards for a touchdown, duplicating his feat earlier in the season against Livonia Churchill.

The Westlanders put the game out of reach when Jerry Cook broke loose for a 41 yard touchdown run midway in the fourth quarter.

Preston, the mainstay of the Glenn ground attack, fell a yard short of reaching 100-yards for the evening. He carried 18 times. Teammate Mike Holton had an excellent game as he amassed 83 yards in 17 carries while Cook picked up 43 in two tries.

Lee was on target for six of his seven passes which accounted for 76 of the Rockets' total 328 yards. The Westlanders compiled 256 yards on the ground and had 15 first downs to Lathrup's nine. Grabowski, a standout on defense, recovered an onsides kick and Mark Scibiorski intercepted a Lathrup pass on the Rocket 15-yard line, stopping the hosts' in one of their drives.

The 10-game winning streak is the longest in Glenn's history and if the 1976 team can finish with a perfect record it will be the first in the school's history to ever accomplish that enviable feat.

Belleville 'must' beat Edsel for title

Tigers trip over Trenton, 29-8, to end win streak at 5

With their one-game cushion gone, Belleville finds itself pinned to the wall as Coach Pat Stokes prepares his Tigers for Edsel Ford. The two teams battle it out Friday night to determine which will wear the Sububran 8 Conference football crown.

A loss to Trenton Friday night left Belleville in the precarious position. It must now beat Edsel in order to salvage the title - a loss would leave them with a 5-2 record which now isn't good enough to claim the championship.

"There's no doubt about it - this is it for us," said Stokes. "If we want the title, we are going to have to go out and beat Edsel. Edsel is coming off of a victory and they'll be favored against us."

Belleville didn't look like the team that had won its previous five games last Friday as the Tigers took it on the chin 29-8. Ironically, Belleville compiled 334 yards, its best offensive output of the year.

But Trenton had amassed a 22-0 lead before Belleville got on the scoreboard early in the fourth quarter. The Tigers struck with Kelvin Patterson who raced 60-yards for their only touchdown of the game.

"We didn't play well, that's all there is to it," said Stokes. "And I don't know what the reason was. We were flat and sloopy in our execution."

Belleville also lost three fumbles in key situations.

Patterson led Belleville's ballcarriers with 124 yards in 20 carries while Kevin Barnes picked up 70 yards in 16 tries.

Belleville hasn't won a league championship since 1958 and a victory over Edsel Ford Friday would end the long title drought.

One yard to paydirt

Ready to hand off to Doran Mason (44) is Churchill quarterback Ron Nutter (center) who watched the Charger running back crash into a Canton defender and go into the end zone for a touchdown from the one-yard line. The 21-7 Churchill victory gave the Livonians a fifth place finish in the Western Six Conference, while Canton wound up in the cellar with an 0-5 record.

Riverview ends Wayne title dream

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

He who lives by the sword. the Book says, dies by the sword.

And Wayne Memorial, living this season off of second half rallies, "died" in the second half at Riverview which came back to score a 21-14 overtime football victory Friday night over Coach Floyd Carter's Zebras.

Wayne built up a 14-0 first half lead before allowing the hosts two touchdowns in the final two periods. Riverview settled the issue in the overtime on Bill Bauerle's one-yard touchdown lunge, the third play of the series.

Wayne couldn't replay as quarterback Pat Bledsoe attempted two unsuccessful passes after a loss of 12 yards and full back Dave Freeborn's eight yard rush.

"That second half letdown, especially in the third quarter caused us problems," said coach Carter. "However, I felt we played one of our best first halfs of the season.

"Also, we had four sophomores (Mark Korte, Ed Turbeville, Randy Shirk and Mike Wilson) in the game and these kids looked great," Carter added.

The loss dipped Wayne's record to 4-2 in a league which gives the Zebras a third share of second place along with Fordson and Riverview. If Wayne can beat Taylor Truman, its final Great Lakes 8 Conference opponent of the season Friday night, it will wind up in second place with the winner of the Riverview-Fordson game.

Lincoln Park, unbeaten is seven starts, six in the league, clinched the league championship last week. The Railsplitters have only Monroe in their path.

Wayne and Riverview played to a scoreless first quarter and it was Bob Lusk's fumble recovery at the Zebra 28-yard line that got the Wayne team rolling. Bledsoe then put together a 72-yard, 15-play drive which included a four-for-four passing attack to get the Zebras on the scoreboard.

The senior Wayne quaterback sneaked in from the one for the Zebras' first six-points.

Wayne's attempt for the two-point conversion, a take kick turned into a pass from back-up quarterback Mark Korte to Turbeville was good, however, the Zebras were called for holding and they tried to kick which failed.

In that first TD drive, Bledsoe and Don Campbell teamed up for two pass completions while Dave Freeborn and Keith Johns on each napped one and halfback Tim Clark had two first down runs of 26 and 11 yards.

Wayne increased its margin to 14-0 with 1:19 left in the initial half. The Zebras had stopped Riverview at the Pirates' 14-yard line and forced them to punt, the ball rolling out of bounds at the host's 45.

It was all Clark after that as he rushed for two yards after a pass from Bledsoe for five. On a fourth and three situation, Clark dove up the middle and went 38-yards for a touchdown.

This time Bledsoe and Turbeville combined for the conversion, giving the Zebras two more points.

Wayne's defense, which had given up a mere 44 yards the first half, didn't look the same the rest of the way. The Pirates a massed 188 yards the second half.

Riverview scored after the opening kickoff , driving 64-yards in eight plays to get on the scoreboard at 8:18 in the third period on Sam Brnovich's one-yard plunge. Brnovich also kicked the extra point.

With 2:54 left in the game, Riverview tied it up on Bob Randals one-yard run and Brnovich's successful conversion.

Riverview scored in the overtime on a third down and one situation with Bauerle taking it in. Brnovich again booted the extra point.

Wayne's first play in the extra period was an incomplete pass, then Bledsoe was sacked for a 12-yard loss and Freeborn got eight of those back on the third play.

Bledsoe went to the air on the fourth play and tossed to Keith Johnson who made a diving catch for the ball which fell from his hands.

Clark had a superb game against the Pirates, chalking up 112 yards in 15 carries, while Bledsoe completed eight of 13 passes for 69-yards.

Romulus stops Flyers after two overtimes

It took two overtimes, but Romulus finally managed to pull out a 28-22 football victory over Willow Run last week.

Willow Run rallied for two touchdowns in the final four minutes in regulation to tie the score at 14-all, then each team scored eight points in the first overtime, forcing the issue into another extra period before Romulus won it.

"I thought we were going to shut them out," said Romulus Coach Tom Baldwin. "But a couple of fluke plays cost us touchdowns, especially one that gave them a TD after one of our players had deflected a pass."

Scoreless the first two quarters, Romulus broke the deadlock early in the third quarter when quarterback Kelly Summerfield teamed up with Dwight Walker for a 30-yard touchdown pass.

The Eagle tried to run for the two point conversion and fell short.

Romulus built up a 14-0 lead in the fourth quarter as Summerfield dashed into the end zone from four yards out. The Romulus quarterback then tossed to Richard Lewis to cash in on the two-point conversion.

Maurice Smith dove one-yard to give the Flyers their first score of the game and with 1:25 left in the game Romulus fumbled at their own 39-yard line and Willow Run recovered.

With 55 seconds to spare, the Flyers got on the scoreboard on a 39-yard pass from Smith to split end Marcus Bond who caught the ball in the end zone after it was defeated by a Romulus defender.

For the nailbiting two-point conversion, the Flyers were moved to the 1½ yard line because of an Eagle penalty and Johnny Lozon scored the two-point equalizer.

Romulus' Walker scored on the first play in the first overtime and a Summerfield to Don McMann pass counted for the conversion.

Willow Run responded with a third play touchdown as Smith hooked up with Earl Cowan on a six-yard scoring pass. Cowan also scored the extra point.

In the second overtime Walker crashed into the Willow Run endzone from three-yards out on the third play to give the Eagles' their margin of victory.

The statistics give Romulus the edge in almost every department except passing. The Eagles had 15 first downs to the Flyers' 13 and rushed 218 yards to the loser's 139. However. Willow Run hit on six of 17 passes for 91 yards while Summerfield was four for four for 36 yards.

Both teams had six penalties worth 40 yards and both teams fumbled twice.

"This was our best offensive game of the season," Baldwin remarked. "Except for the touchdown pass, I felt we shut down their passing game."

Lewis led Romulus' ground attack with 94 yards in 16 attempts while Walker had 51 in 13 attempts. Andy Orgovan accounted for seven colors and seven assists and end Daryl Williams counted two sacks of the Willow Run quarterback.

Romulus takes on Jackson Lumen Christi Saturday night at 7:30 and Baldwin warns "that they are tough.

"We're going to have to play an exceptional game to beat them," Baldwin added.

The game will be staged in Woodington Stadium in Jackson.

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

The first American car ever to be completed and successfully tested was a motor carriage assembled from existing odds and ends by Frank and Charles Duryea in 1893. The Duryeas, both skilled mechanics, put together a simple car that consisted of a one-cylinder, four horsepower engine fixed underneath the seat of a secondhand buggy and connected to the drive wheels by a belt. The carburetor was constructed from a perfume atomizer and an alcohol burner.

Keep your American or foreign car running at its best with quality parts and accessories from KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster! Spartan offense sputters... Southgate shuts out CH

Cherry Hill hopes to end a five-game losing streak Saturday at Southgate Schafer, a team that is having its own problems these days.

"This is the most experienced team that the Schafer coach has had," said Cherry Hill's Jerry Pawloski who is loading his lineup with nine sophomores. "Schafer won its first three games and it has been downhill ever since.

"I feel this will be a good opportunity to break our losing streak," he added.

Cherry Hill had the defense but couldn't generate the offense in losing to Southgate 7-0 last Friday. The loss left the Spartans with a 1-5 Tri-River Conference and a 1-6 overall mark.

Southgate snapped a scoreless half by getting the only touchdown of the game in the third quarter.

Spartan quarterback Scott Dawson nearly pulled it out as he led a sustained drive to the Saber 10-yard line in the fourth quarter, however, consecutive penalties forced Cherry Hill back.

Mike Minor tried a 26-yard field goal and the attempt was blocked.

"The kids worked very hard on defense, it's just a pity we have to lose these heartbreakers," Pawloski added. "I really feel that we outplayed them but they got the breaks."

Penalties played a crucial role in Cherry Hill's loss. The Spartans were slapped with nine big ones for 86 yards while Southgate had six infractions for 55 yards.

Pat Pudelek continues to lead the Spartan defenders as he counted 10 unassisted tackles and was in on three assists. John Sweet recovered a fumble in the third quarter and that triggered the Spartans' march to the Saber 10, while Clarence Guyton accounted for two interceptions which were other bright spots in the Cherry Hill game.

"You know we beat Melvindale and Melvindale defeated Kennedy." said Pawloski. "Can you figure that all out?"

Kennedy, with a 5-1 record has sewed up a share of the conference championship.

"I have a score of underclassmen on this team and I just can't wait to see what they'll do the next couple of years," Pawloski sighed.

Churchill passes Canton in 21-7 duel

It looked like it was going to be one of those days for Coach Ken Kaestner and Livonia Churchill.

The first two times the Chargers had possession of the ball they fumbled and Plymouth Canton recovered deep in Churchill territory.

However, Churchill's defense withstood the challenge and stopped Canton to pave the way to a 21-7 Western Six Conference football victory.

"It didn't look too good at first," Kaestner said, "We didn't get off a play in that first couple of minutes of ghe game and fumbled twice, so I was worried."

Fifty-four of Canton's aerial yards was on a fourth quarter touchdown pass play. Canton turned a fake punt into a touchdown to avert the shutout. Mark Perkins hit Jerry Simon who went the 54-yards into the Churchill endzone.

But Churchill had the game sewed up before then. The Chargers got on the scoreboard in the first quarter when Mark DeWitt lunged over the Chiefs' goal line from the one, ending a 50-yard drive keyed by a 29-yard pass from quarterback Ron Nutter to Chuck Watkins, who was tackled on the one.

Churchill bid for the extra point fell short.

The Livonians made it a 14-0 ball game in the second quarter on Watkins' one-yard plunge. That TD also followed a 43-yard pass play which featured Nutter and DeWitt. Chris Cleff passed to DeWitt for the two-point conversion.

Churchill put the game on ice in the third quarter with an insurance touchdown as Watkins sprinted 39 yards to set up the TD. Nutter made it to the one from where Doran Mason scored.

Cleff again connected on the point after.

It was Tim Curran, Pat Fabian and Jim Boysel, however, who formed the nucleus of the Chargers' defense.

Churchill will travel crosstown to Franklin on Saturday (2 p.m.) to take on Coach Armand Vigna's Patriots. Franklin is coming off of a come-from-behind, last quarter victory over Garden City East.

Repeat performance?

Seeking to retain the Western Wayne Aquatics Championship trophy, Westland John Glenn will host the second annual invitational Friday and Saturday in its pool. Glenn's five seniors (from left) Laurie Grogg, Jean Sisson, Colleen Rehahn, Jody Garbus and Rhonda Discher hold the key to winning the invitational which will begin Friday at 6 p.m. with the 500-yard freestyle and diving preliminaries. On Saturday at 10 a.m., the program calls for preliminaries in the swim events. The finals are set for 4 p.m. Admission to the finals are $1 for adults, 75 cents for students, and 50 cents for children.

St. Richard's seeks cagers

Basketball is just around the corner for the St. Richard's Community Athletic Association which is seeking girls and boys for its leagues.

The association will be sponsoring two girls' cage leagues for students from the 5th through 12th grades in the Wayne-Westland areas.

The leagues will be split by grades into two divisions 5th through 8th; ninth through 12th and competition will began later this month.

Registration will be accepted at St. Richard's Church, Cherry Hill between Wayne Road and Newburgh Road. There is a $5 registration fee.

Further information about the league may be obtained by telephoning 728-6714 and 728-8158.

Unbeaten Wayne tankers close in on league title

Undefeated in league competition, Wayne Memorial's girls' swimming team closed in on its second straight Great Lakes 8 Conference championship by winning its fifth straight at the expense of Lincoln Park 118-51.

Coach Jim McPartlin's team will defend the title Nov. 19-20 at Wyandotte High. The Zebras, who are presently 5-0 on the league year, 6-3 on the season, will face Riverview Thursday at Riverview for their next league competition.

Sophomore Terri Discher led Wayne's assault against Lincoln Park as she figured in a two victories and three records. Miss Discher was clocked in the winning and school record-breaking time of 1:12.0 for the 100-yard butterfly, helped Wayne win the 200-yard medley relay (1:11.6) and, though she was second in the 200-yard individual medley, her 2:43.1 effort was a school record.

Wayne's Terri Richardson continued her domination of the diving boards as he amassed 195.70 points. Miss Richardson also placed 12th at The Detroit News' Invitational where the of the best divers in the state were entered.

WHILE OTHER CARS ARE BLOWING THEIR OWN HORNS, ROAD TEST MAGAZINE NAMED SUBARU "LINE OF THE YEAR."

For the first time, Road Test has honored an entire line of cars. That line was Subaru. Here's why:

A PRICE THAT ISN'T HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

The price of our 2 door sedan is $2899.* Our other models are slightly higher but just as economical.

That's because the price of every Subaru includes front wheel drive. The SEEC-T engine that won Road Test's Fresh Air Award. And extras like power front disc brakes, radial tires and a lot more.

IN ADDITION TO ECONOMY, WE OFFER VARIETY.

Our line includes seven models. Many available with either 4 speed, 5 speed or automatic transmission. And the only passenger car that's at home on the road and off the beaten paths: the 4 Wheel Drive Wagon.

Now you know why when it came to naming a Car Line of the Year, Road Test gave Subaru the right of way.

NAME YOUR MODEL... NAME YOUR PRICE

The '76 Toyotas, a bargain all year, are now the better bargain. Other dealers have introduced their '77 models and much higher '77 prices. We still have a wide selection of tough '76 Toyota Corollas, Coronas, Celicas and Trucks at the low '76 price. That's right, Toyota—America's top selling import is still at the low '76 price. See me today for a tough deal on a tough Toyota. But you better hurry. People know a better bargain when they see one. You asked for it. You got it. Toyota.

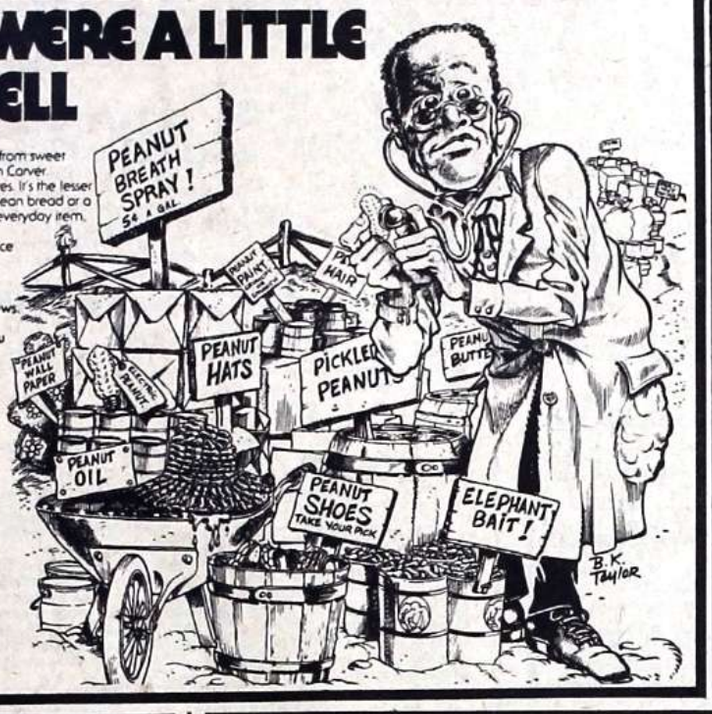
SOME OF CARVER'S MORE UNUSUAL PRODUCTS WERE A LITTLE TOUGH TO SELL



Peanut butter, soybean products and new foods from sweet potatos – all great discoveries by George Washington Carver.

Great discoveries have a way of selling themselves. It's the lesser known items that can bring trouble. Whether it's soybean bread or a sandwich paste made from weeds by Carver, or an everyday item, most people turn to want ads in the paper.

But even then, it can be largely a matter of chance that you'll find a buyer without weeks of waiting.

When advertising an item for sale, you don't have to leave it all to chance. Use the right ad in the right paper – Thrifty Want Ads in The Detroit News.

With an extra 1/2 million readers every day, your ad is certain to find a buyer. If not, we'll give you an extra five days free. A 3 line ad running 2 days costs only 8 dollars ($9 if the first or second day is Sunday). Low cost, fast action – that's for certain.

Now, anyone care for a fillet of peanut?
